Note Columnist Jack Anderson Raps On
"Inside Congress"--thurs. Dec. 11

Washington, D.C. (AP) - Columnist Jack Anderson held a Suffolk University audience Thursday that Vice President
S. R. Agnew, in a news conference, was a little more for "freedom of speech" and less for "freedom of action" than he had been credited to be. He said Anderson had done some damage to his reputation.

"He said that some of the things I said were true," said Agnew, "but he also said that I was a "jerk."" Anderson denied the charge.

Anderson had been invited to speak at Suffolk University as part of the university's "Inside Congress" series. The event was sponsored by the Student Government and the Department of Communication.

Anderson, who is known for his outspoken criticism of government officials, said he was pleased to be able to speak at Suffolk University.

"I've always been a believer in the free press, and I believe that the press should be free to criticize government officials," Anderson said.

Anderson also spoke about his recent book, "The New Politics," which has received critical acclaim.

"I believe that the government is run by a bunch of crooks," Anderson said. "And I want to do my part to揭露 the truth."

Washington College alumni Jack Anderson spoke here on the future of American education and the future of Congress at the peak of the country's period of public support for the war in Vietnam. Only 200 students came to the lecture. That is 10% of the undergraduate day enrollment.

On December 10th, the committee that deemed Bill Hambrecht to be too weak to speak here. The majority of these 800 people present were of every class and race who had signed up. The students were not happy that Senator Kennedy was in town, and the students were not happy that Senator Kennedy was in town, and the students were not happy that Senator Kennedy was in town.

Serve Peace Corps
Earn College Degree

The officials of the Peace Corps and the State University of New York College at Brockport announced completion of arrangements for continuing and extending the unique Peace Corps-Educators Program to admit a fourth group of candidates in late 1970. The members of the first contingent completing the fifteen-month program which combines the upper division undergraduate education with Peace Corps preparation are now serving in international educational development teams in the Democratic Republic. The second group is now serving similar assignments in Peru and Bangladesh. The third group is in the academic year phase of the program and is slated for overseas assignment in Latin America in August 1970.

The candidates will be selected from the number of interested young men who are graduating or have graduated from accredited colleges who, according to their personal intentions, have registered their desire to serve in Peace Corps. The second group consisting of 123 plans to leave in July 1969. The third group of 159 will depart in November 1969. In addition, 35 Peace Corps volunteers are scheduled to remain for one additional year to assist in extending the program. The candidates will be selected from the number of interested young men in the Peace Corps.

One doesn't have to look far for a description of a child's Christmas card, the popular greeting cards that people give to friends and family. They are often simple and Homemade. Perhaps it is a drawing of a child with a heart and a star, or simply a drawing of a tree. However, there is one type of card that is more popular than the others. These are the cards that are written by children.

With this issue we bring to you the first part of our school year. As it is the first issue of the year, I feel a sense of accomplishment in what we have done to fulfill the expectations of the members of our organization, and our school. Much of it has been achieved by the efforts of all members of the organization and others who have helped to make it possible.

Sports Day At Suffolk

Alpha Phi Omega, the national fraternity for women, sponsors a series of activities and competitions during the fall semester. These events, known as "Sports Day At Suffolk," provide opportunities for members to socialize and engage in various physical activities.

The weekend at Suffolk was kicked off by a visit to the Virginia Beach area, where members enjoyed sightseeing and participating in various outdoor activities. Following the trip, members gathered at the Suffolk University Recreation Center to participate in a variety of sports-related events.

The weekend included a range of activities, such as a basketball game, a bowling tournament, and a soccer match. Members also had the chance to participate in a charity event, where they raised funds for a local charity.

Sports Day At Suffolk was a successful event, providing members with an opportunity to foster friendships and engage in friendly competition. The weekend concluded with a banquet, where members shared stories and memories of their time at Suffolk University.

Sports Day At Suffolk provided a fun and enjoyable experience for all members involved. The weekend was a testament to the spirit of camaraderie and sportsmanship that is characteristic of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Photo Exhibit
A Success

By Linda Fawley

The photographic exhibition that is now on display is a very successful one. People coming into the library, especially the following Tuesday night, have been impressed by the photographs. A casual estimate of 100 people have been viewing the exhibit. This is a result of it being held in the library. A very large number of people have been coming in to view the exhibit.

The exhibit features photographs of various concerts and events, showcasing the music of The Rolling Stones, The Band, and The Byrds. The exhibit includes images of band members in concert, as well as audience members enjoying the performances. The photographs are beautifully displayed, capturing the energy and atmosphere of these legendary concerts.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Y.A.F. (Young Adult Faculty) and is located in the library. It is open to the public and is a great way to celebrate the music of these iconic bands. The Y.A.F. is proud to present this exhibit and encourage everyone to come and view it.

By a student reporter

The photographic exhibit, now a regular feature of the student body, was held at the school's auditorium and was an overwhelming success. The exhibit was organized by the Photography Club, and the students were impressed by the talent and creativity displayed by their peers.

The exhibit featured a wide range of photographs, from landscapes to portraits, and the students were encouraged to participate. The exhibit was a great opportunity for students to showcase their work and to appreciate the art form.

The Photography Club is planning to host more exhibits in the future, and they are looking forward to seeing what their peers can produce.

Our new instructional assistant, Mr. Johnson, has been working hard to improve our school's instruction. He has introduced many new techniques and methods that have been well-received by both students and teachers.

Mr. Johnson has been teaching for 15 years and has a wealth of knowledge and experience. He is always eager to learn and improve his own teaching methods.

He is passionate about education and believes that every student deserves the best possible education. He is committed to helping our students succeed and he is always willing to go the extra mile to ensure that they do.

The students have been very receptive to Mr. Johnson's teaching style and they look forward to his classes with great anticipation.

Seniors: have your aspirations turned to expectations?

a poem by ASPRE, Inc.

A few years back, we were all唾哈
Now we find ourselves looking towards graduation

Don't let life drag you down,
Instead, let your spirit soar
And make the most of this moment
Before the world takes you in its thrall

Keep your dreams alive and shining
And always believe in yourself
For you are capable of great things
And with hard work, you can make them happen

Cockroaches And Landlords

Guest Editorial

If your plan is to move into a new home, you must first be aware of the potential for cockroaches in your new residence. The problem is not limited to one particular region, and cockroaches can be found in virtually any type of home. They are especially prevalent in areas with high humidity and poor ventilation, such as basements and kitchens. To prevent cockroaches, it is important to keep your home clean and dry, and to seal any cracks or gaps where they may enter. If you do detect cockroaches, it is important to take immediate action to eliminate them. Cockroaches can cause serious health problems, and they can also damage your home. In some cases, Cockroaches are considered to be a financial burden, as they can cause damage to your home. It is important to take action to prevent and control cockroaches in your home. By following these tips, you can help to protect your home and your health.

Look Who's Here
Singing Their Favorite Thing

A story by

The story started on campus at the University of Southern California. A group of students decided to form a club to promote music and student involvement. They held their first meeting and the club was born - the SGA Reps. The club was led by a new president, Barbara Walsh, who had previously been a member of the SGA. The club soon gained popularity on campus and began to attract new members. The club's main goal was to promote music and student involvement on campus.

Faculty Recognition

By John J. Nettles

The campus at the University of Southern California is home to a wide range of talented and dedicated faculty members. These individuals are not only recognized for their academic achievements, but also for their contributions to the university community. The university's Faculty Recognition Committee, the General Alumni Association, and the SGA Reps have joined forces to celebrate these outstanding faculty members.

Look at the latest issue of the university newspaper, the Daily Trojan, to see who has been honored for their contributions to the university and the community. The recognition is typically given to faculty members who have demonstrated excellence in teaching, research, and community service.

Congratulations to all of the faculty members who have received this prestigious honor! It is a testament to the high quality of education offered at the University of Southern California and the dedication of its faculty.
"Take The Moratorium Home" For Christmas

The Venture Moratorium Committee has announced that one of its major efforts in December will be to actively encourage students to walkout of their home towns during Christmas. Many students suggest that the idea of long-distance travel during Christmas is the very essence of the holidays.

I asked Bob, a student from the home area, about his thoughts.

Bob: "I don't think it's the best thing to be done. To me, it's a matter of principle. But I have agreed to walkout, if it really is the only way to show my support."
