House of Commons Hume and Sen. Daschle Will Speak at May 28 Commencement

John Hume, a member of the British House of Commons, and Senate Minority Leader Thomas A. Daschle of South Dakota will share the speaking roles at the May 28 commencement exercises of the Law School, and College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and School of Management.

Hume, nominated for a Nobel Peace prize for his efforts in ending strife in Northern Ireland, will deliver the address at the CLAS and SOM exercises at 4:00 p.m. at the Wang Center.

Earlier in the day at the same location, Daschle will address 505 Law School graduates in a 9:00 a.m. program.

President David J. Sargent will confer degrees at both exercises. Law School Dean John E. Fenton Jr. will be presenting juris doctor candidates at his first commencement as dean.

In the afternoon program, degrees will be awarded to 653 graduates, 341 of those in the School of Management, and 312 in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

The daughters of three long-time Law School faculty members will be among those receiving juris doctor degrees. They are Christine Sandoe, Brenda Elias, and Helen Kindregan, daughters of Prof. Anthony Sandoe, Cliff Elias and Charles Kindregan.

Two individuals who have been active alumni over the years will serve as class marshals. State Rep. Richard A. Voke of Chelsea, B.A. '70 will lead the CLAS and SOM graduates. Voke is also a 1974 Law School graduate. Atty. Thomas E. Dwyer Jr., J.D. '70, a former chairman of the Law School Annual Fund, will be marshal for the Law School graduates.

Hume has been a member of the European Parliament for Northern Ireland since 1979. He was a leader of the non-violent Civil Rights in 1968 and 1969 and his elective career has included memberships in the Northern Ireland Assembly, the Constitutional Convention and election to Westminster. Among awards he has received are the St. Thomas More Award from the University of San Francisco and the American Federation of Teachers Human Rights.

Sen. Daschle who has served as Senate Democratic leader since December, is a member of the Agriculture Committee and recognized as an aggressive advocate for family farmers and a leader on issues affecting rural America. First elected to the Senate in 1986, he previously served in the House of Representatives for eight years. In 1991 he won an 11-year fight for legislation to compensate Vietnam veterans suffering as a result of exposure to the toxic herbicide Agent Orange.

(continues on pg. 2)
Fulham (cont. from pg. 1)

The Rev. John Bowles, auxiliary bishop of Boston and vicar for the Central Region, headed a group of some 14 clergy who participated in the requiem Mass for Mr. Fulham, who was still active as a Suffolk trustee and had attended a board meeting the day before his death.

President Fulham’s brother, John, his associate in the family fishing business, delivered a spirited eulogy tracing his brother’s career from his school days, to sailing experiences and Tom’s experience as a flier, his military and business careers, and his pioneer efforts in all endeavors.

“He was uniquely faithful, virtuous and modest... was, even as a very young man, philosophical, never wordy, always brief, always thoughtful, grew every day of his life as scholar, soldier, workman, husband, father, whole human being, “the brother said.

John Fulham added, “Tom’s life was an act of faith in God and an act of love of his wonderful wife, children, and grandchildren, his sisters and brothers, his community and his parish.” He pointed out that Tom was proud and grateful for being a Eucharistic minister and altar boy at St. Paul’s.

President Sargent headed a large group of the Suffolk community who attended the funeral. He called Fulham’s passing “a great loss” for the University. “Under Tom Fulham’s able and dedicated leadership, Suffolk University experienced dramatic growth and progress in the 70s, expanding its enrollment and academic programs significantly while expanding its physical plant to include the Fenton and Sawyer Buildings,” Sargent observed. “During his tenure, the University earned recognition as one of the outstanding universities in New England. The entire Suffolk community owes a profound debt of gratitude to Tom Fulham for his years of tireless dedication to the University.”

As Suffolk president, Mr. Fulham was one of the most active and respected leaders in private higher education in New England. He served as chairman of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts and as a member of the Beacon Hill Civic Association helped foster a closer community relationship between the University and its neighbors.

This culminated with the opening of Temple Walk, a pedestrian mall running from the State House to Cambridge street, which was a cooperative effort among neighborhood groups.

Thomas Fulham succeeded Judge John E. Fenton as president in 1970. After retiring he continued to serve on the Board of Trustees explaining, “I love Suffolk University and for what it stands and it would be difficult to break away after this long an association.”

Among the highlights of the Fulham administration:

- Construction of a liberal arts building named for Judge Fenton and renovation of the Frank J. Donahue Law School Building.
- Acquisition of the 12-story United Way Building, now the Frank Sawyer Building at 8 Ashburton Place.
- Suffolk Law School voted full membership in the Association of American Law Schools.
- Creation of a Center for Public Management in Suffolk’s School of Management.
- Development of a marine station for Suffolk’s biology department at Cobscook Bay, Maine on the Bay of Fundy.
- First institution in the area to offer a senior citizen program enabling citizens over 65 to take courses free of tuition.
- Restructuring of the Suffolk University Alumni Association and development of an annual fund for colleges and law school.

Before joining Suffolk, Fulham had spent nearly his entire life in the fishing industry, managing the Boston Fish Market Corp. with brothers, John, and the late Gerard Fulham. He grew up in Winthrop, graduating from St. John’s Prep in Danvers, and receiving his A.B. degree from Holy Cross College and was a trustee of that college. During World War II, he had the distinction of being the 11th man drafted in the U.S. Army as a private and retiring as a major in 1946. He served in the Quartermaster Corp.

He leaves his wife of nearly 53 years, Annette (Healy) Fulham; three sons, Thomas A. Jr. of Alexandria, Va., Nicholas L. of Framingham and Gregory J. of Chicago; six daughters, Annette Fulham Kletter of New York City, Mary Fulham Killion of Natick, Ellen Fulham Lopez of Boston, Christina J. of Natick, Deborah W. Fulham-Winston of Carlisle, Pa. and Gretchen M. of Natick; brother John N. Jr. of Wellesley; and a sister, Margaret Fulham Mullin of Osterville; and seven grandchildren.

Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Wellesley.

Commencement (cont. from pg. 1)

Hume and Daschle will be awarded honorary degrees following their addresses. Other honorary degree recipients will be Associate Justice Victoria Lederberg of the Rhode Island Supreme Court, U.S. District Court Judge A. David Mazzone, and Robert W. O’Leary, chief executive officer of the American Health Care Systems, Law School recipients, and Martin Bookspan, classical musician and narrator for concert performances by the nation’s greatest orchestras, Rachel Robinson, president of the Jackie Robinson Foundation and widow of the famous baseball player, and John J. Cullinane, president of the Cullinane Group, Inc.

James F. Linnehan, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will open the ceremonies and deliver the call to commencement.
Trustee Thomas M. Mawn Jr. Passes Away; He was 69

His colleagues on the Board of Trustees and alumni friends at Suffolk University were deeply saddened by the death of Atty. Thomas M. Mawn Jr., a partner in the Woburn law firm of Mawn and Mawn. He died Feb. 21 after a short illness. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Mawn, a 1965 graduate of Suffolk Law School, had served as a University trustee for nearly 11 years. He was graduated from Northeastern University with a B.A. in economics and before law school graduation and a successful law career, was a supervisory revenue agent for the Internal Revenue Service.

In addition to his law practice, he lectured on taxation, and estate planning at New England School of Law. The life-long Woburn resident was a decorated veteran of World War II having been wounded three times in the European action, and receiving the Combat Industry Badge, three battle stars, the Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters and the Bronze Star. He was a trustee of the Woburn Public Library, a director of the Woburn Bank and Trust Co. and chairman of the Choate-Symmes Health Service, Inc.

He leaves his wife, the former Dorothy Allen of Lowell, and seven children.

Law Librarian Slinger Accepts Post at Cleveland-Marshall Law School

Michael J. Slinger, Law Library director, has accepted a post as director of the Law Library at Cleveland-Marshall Law School.

Slinger is completing five productive years at the law school and has won the respect of his colleagues for the service the library has provided during his tenure.

"We are saddened to see Michael leave," said Dean John E. Fenton Jr. "The Law Library has been improved and enhanced in every possible way under his leadership. It has provided more efficient service to all library users. He has been a strong advocate for increasing the library budget and its staff and has worked endlessly with our Computer Services Department to improve the computer research capacity to benefit faculty, students, alumni and other patrons. In addition, he is a true scholar as he teaches a well-received course to our law students in advanced legal writing and research. His publications have been widely acclaimed. We certainly wish him the best in his new assignment."

Slinger, in a column for the Law Library newsletter, expressed his thanks to his staff and colleagues and said he hoped to be remembered as "a good colleague, competent administrator and most especially as someone who worked as hard as he could to make a meaningful contribution to the library staff, the faculty and the students." He said he was grateful for what he learned at Suffolk.

Slinger succeeded the retiring Edward J. Bander as law librarian. Previously, he had served at the University of Notre Dame Law School Library.

SOM Marks 10-Year Reaccreditation

School of Management Dean John F. Brennan celebrated his school's glowing reaccreditation award by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business with a reception April 20 in the Sawyer Building.

"The 10-year reaccreditation by the School of Management as being among the best business schools in the country," Brennan told guests at the afternoon reception. "It reflects the dedication of our administrators, faculty and staff to provide our students with the knowledge and skills they need to compete in today's global business environment."

Suffolk's School of Management is one of but 311 business schools out of some 1200 offering undergraduate degrees to be accredited by AACSB. To achieve accreditation, a business school must meet a wide range of quality standards.

The AACSB visiting team said of SOM in part, "This is an institution which fully lives its mission . . . there was an atmosphere of genuine concern for the future and to move the school strongly forward as a unified whole."

The School of Management is the only business school in New England to be accredited by both the AACSB and the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration.

Grad Admissions Host Fellowship Program

Forty employees of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts attended a program hosted by the Graduate Admissions Office to announce and discuss the new fellowship program co-sponsored by the School of Management and the Commonwealth.

The program is designed for mid-level managers who work for the Commonwealth and interested in the public administration program at Suffolk.

According to Sandy Matava one fellowship will be awarded each year.
Newsmakers

Edith L. Pacillo, a member of the Suffolk University Law Review. She recently was named national winner of the ninth annual Scribes Notes and Comments Award, selected over entries from 104 law schools throughout the nation. The Scribes award is the most prestigious national honor for students who write for and edit American law reviews. Pacillo accepted the award at the National Conference of Law Reviews in San Antonio in March. Her note, “Getting a Feminist Foot in the Courtroom Door: Media Liability for Personal Injury Caused by Pornography” appears in Volume 28, Number 1 of the Suffolk University Law Review.

Fran Burke, Public Administration. The long-time SOM professor has been awarded a Fulbright Fellowship to teach in Kuala Lumpur, capital city of Malaysia. She will be teaching at the Institute for Management. Courses will include leadership, decision making and ethics in management. Burke, who is marking 20 years at Suffolk this year, will be making her first visit to the Far East and will include visits to Hong Kong and Shanghai and will attend the fourth United Nation’s Conference on Women in Beijing.

Henry Mulcahy, Biology. He presented a paper in March at the annual meeting of the American Association of Dental Research in San Antonio. He collaborated with Drs. Charles Habib and Clark Smith of the Tufts School of Dental Medicine. Mulcahy, who a year ago did a sabbatical as a visiting associate professor at Harvard Medical School, will present another paper in May based on research of a former biology student Yvonne McCarey. It will be presented at the annual meeting of the American Society for Microbiology in Washington, D.C. Some 16,000 scientists from throughout the country are expected to attend.

Nancy Croll, School of Management. The director of academic computing organized and chaired the 2nd annual conference of the New England Regional Computing Program at Sturbridge. NERCComp is a consortium of 50 New England colleges, universities and other non-profit institutions dedicated to the advancement of information technology in education.

Alexandra Todd, Sociology. She will chair a panel and present a paper at the International Congress on alternative and complementary medicine in Washington, D.C. in May.

George Nogler, Accounting. He has had a solo authored article, “The Resolution of Auditor Going Concern Opinion” accepted for publication in the Fall issue of Auditing: A Journal of Practice and Theory.

Bette Mandl, English. She presented a paper, “Alive Still in You: Memory and Silence in a A Shayna Maidel” at the 20th Century Literature Conference in March in Louisville, Ky.

Carol Dine of English. Her poems were published recently in College English, Earth’s Daughters, and Southern Poetry. She has been awarded a residency to the Wurlitzer Foundation, Taos, New Mexico where she’ll spend the month of June working on a new manuscript. English Department Colleague Robert Johnson has had his fourth collection of poems, Out of the Ordinary published in February.

Carole Zulauf, Education and Human Services. She has completed her requirements for a doctor of education degree at Boston University and will receive her degree this month. Zulauf recently presented a paper, “Developing Systems Thinking Ability in Organization” at the Academy of Human Resource Department Annual Conference in St. Louis.

Marilyn Jurich, English. She presented a paper on “The Pseudo-Utopian Cosmographies of Stanislaw Lem” to the American Popular Culture Society in April. Earlier she published a review and critique of “Strategies of Fantasy” by Brian Attebery.

John Berg, Government. He was in Washington last month to receive an award given to the University by the Washington Center for Internships and Academic Seminars. Suffolk was one of 20 affiliate schools honored by the center as it marks its 20th anniversary. The conferences were presented at the center’s annual honor roll banquet at which Senator Majority Leader Bob Dole was the featured speaker.

Susan Thayer, Ballotti Learning Center. At the recent conference of the National Association of Developmental Education, she was honored for outstanding service to professional standards. She received a plaque at the general assembly with some 1200 participants in attendance.

John E. Fenton Jr., Law School Dean. He addressed more than 60 members of the Mass. Trial Judges in a lecture on evidence at the Laschener Institute at the Nichols College Education Center. Dean Fenton is the former chief administrative judge for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Clarence Cooper, Business Administration. He was the Distinguished Speaker at the annual Spring 1995 Griffin Fellows Dinner April 20. His topic was “Negotiation/Mediation in the Work Place.”
Personnel

S.U. Supports Bike to Work Week May 14-19

Tired of enduring commuter gridlock, paying hefty parking fees or feeling like you're part of a herd of sheep on the MBTA? If so, why not try a healthy as well as enjoyable alternative means of commuting: bicycling to work during Bike to Work Week May 14-19.

A Reminder on Dental Insurance

With all the changes that occur in one's life when a new baby enters the family, dental insurance might be one of the furthest things from your mind. But hold on. With the teething you'll all be soon facing, reviewing your dental insurance coverage really isn't that off base.

If you have Delta Dental Insurance coverage, you will need to add your new dependent to the plan if you wish him or her to receive benefits.

"A common time to make the addition of a new dependent is during the Add/Drop Period between your child's second and third birthdays or during the Add/Drop prior to the year when your child will receive the first checkup," advises Toni Tinberg, associate director of Human Resources. Tinberg warns that failure to add your child within 31 days after birth or adoption will mean you'll have to wait until a September Add/Drop Period to include the child on your insurance. If you're already enrolled in family coverage, the addition of a dependent will not increase the cost of your insurance.

"If you have had a child in the past few years, and are uncertain whether you've modified your dental coverage, just call me or Kim Hall in Human Resources at Extension 8415 to review your covered dependents," Tinberg suggested.

Coverage Tip on Over 19 Year Olders

Graduation days are almost upon us and while you may be applauding your child over 19 for his academic success, keep in mind if your child has been covered under the University health plan, that coverage will soon be ending. Pilgrim Advantage and Pilgrim Health Care (HMO) will continue to insure your graduate until Aug. 31, and coverage under the Harvard Community Health Plan will end on Sept. 30.

Should you have an offspring in this situation, please contact Toni Tinberg at Extension 8415 for information about continuation coverage.

Change in Tuition Free Course Process

Human Resources announces that to insure that tuition waiver or waiver for spouse or dependent child are properly recorded, the approval process has been adjusted. Now, you must submit the tuition free course approval form to the Student Accounts Office at the time of registration.

Tuition free course approval forms are available from the Human Resources Office and in the literature carriers on Sawyer 7th floor, Fenton lobby and Donahue basement. One must complete the form and submit it to Human Resources for certification of benefit eligibility. Human Resources will return the approved form to you for submission to Student Accounts with your other registration material.

A reminder: Don't forget to send the form to Human Resources early so you will have it in time for registration.

Mirth Doctor Here June 19

Loretta Laroche, the critically acclaimed mirth doctor from the Association of Delightfully Alive Humans, will present her program "Managing Stress Through Humor" June 19 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the Center for Management Development Conference Room at One Beacon St.

The program will explore the concept of stress and how it affects one's body, mind and spirit. Participants will learn how they can use humor to break the negative and irrational thought patterns that cause stress and reframe them into positive, powerful and productive tools for change.

Laroche's presentations have received accolades from such groups as the National Association of Realtors, Tufts University and the Mental Health Center and the Association of Operating Room Nurses.

As a follow-up, practitioners from the Harvard Community Plan will be at the University on June 28 from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. to discuss "Tension Relaxation Techniques." Contact Human Resources to reserve a space.

Personnel (cont. on pg. 6)
Calendar of Events

May
9- Summer Session I Evening Classes Convene. Leadership Banquet One Beacon St. 7 p.m.
10- Deadline for Submission of Spring Grades. Spring Week BBQ at The Tent, Marina Bay, Quincy 12 noon to 5 p.m.
11- Understanding Your Carbon Monoxide Level Reading, Human Resources Training Session 10 a.m. to 12 noon. CMD Conference Room. Spring Week: Scavenger Hunt, 11:30, Fenton Lounge. CLAS/SOM Awards Reception, Boston Harbor Hotel, 6 p.m. MPA Association Meeting Sawyer 521, 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Spring Week: Red Sox Game, Fenway Park.
12- The Role of Self-Acceptance in Career Management CMD 1 Beacon St. Human Resources Training Session 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Spring Ball, Hyatt Regency, 7 p.m. "O'Neill's People" International Conference, Long Day's Journey Into Night. 8:30 p.m. C. Walsh Theatre.
13- "O'Neill's People" "Monologous Matinee, C. Walsh Theatre, 2 p.m. Eugene O'Neill's "The Personal Equation," C. Walsh Theatre 8 p.m.
15- Summer Session I Day Classes Convene.
19- Prometheus Dance, C. Walsh Theatre, 8 p.m.
20- Prometheus Dance, C. Walsh Theatre, 8 p.m.
21- Prometheus Dance, C. Walsh Theatre 2 p.m.
28- Law School Commencement Exercises, Wang Center, 10 a.m. CLAS, SOM Commencement Exercises, Wang Center, 2:30 p.m.
29- Memorial Day- University Closed.

June
5- Boston Music Theatre Project: Joan of Arc. C. Walsh Theatre, 7:30 p.m.
14- MIS Training Session: Introduction to WordPerfect 6.0 MIS, One Beacon St.
16- Alumni Evening at Pops, Symphony Hall.
19- HR Training Session: Managing Stress Through Humor, CMD Conference Room, 1 Beacon St. 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.
23- Summer Session I Ends.
28- HR Training Session: Tension Relaxation Techniques CMD, One Beacon St. Editor’s Note: For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year or to list and event you are planning, call 573-8082.

Personnel

Coverage Tip (cont.)
"If your child over the age of 19 continues in school full-time, he or she can still be covered as a dependent under your health insurance up until the age of 25," Tinberg pointed out. "A letter from the school's registrar verifying full-time student status is required. Dental insurance for your dependents will end when they reach age 19 although continuation coverage for up to 36 months is available at the full premium rate."

New Employees

Bishop, Theresa D. of Burlington, assistant director, Graduate Admissions.
Brown, Maureen of Roslindale, police officer trainee, University Police.
Cragen, Dorothy of Malden, secretary, Office of the President.
DiNapoli, Laurie of Everett, coordinator, Law Admissions.
Hall, Kimberly J. of North Quincy, benefits assistant, Human Resources.
O'Brien, Sean G. of Dorchester, clerk, Mailroom.
O'Donnell, Maureen A. of Quincy, secretary, Law School.
Poirier, Michelle C. of Malden, transcript assistant, Law Registrar's Office.

Dole Beats Clinton in S.U. Poll of N.H. Voters

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole of Kansas would defeat President Clinton in a head on presidential race in New Hampshire according to a poll conducted between March 6 and March 10 by Suffolk University students in a graduate program in professional politics.
In the survey of 501 register voters in the Granite State, who said they are likely to vote in the presidential election, 46 per cent said they would vote for Dole if the election were held today, and 36 per cent said they would vote for Clinton. A total of 18 per cent were undecided.

However, if independent Ross Perot entered the race, it would be a toss-up with 37 per cent going for Dole, 32 per cent for Clinton and 14 per cent for Perot.

The Poll was conducted under the supervision of Suffolk Adjunct Prof. David Paleologos as part of a course "Political Survey Research." Results were unveiled at a political panel discussion hosted by Suffolk at the Parker House. It featured WRKO talk show host Marjorie Clapprood, WBUR's Christopher Lydon and former GOP State
Potpourri
by Lou Connelly

Joe Walsh, Suffolk’s highly successful baseball coach, reached a coveted milestone this Spring when he recorded his 200th career win as the Rams leader. The win came in a victory over Wentworth and his team presented him with an autographed ball after the game to mark the occasion. The 41-year old Dorchester native is in his 14th season at Suffolk and had a career record of 209 wins and 162 losses as we went to press. His teams have made the Eastern College Athletic Conference’s post season playoffs six times in the past 10 years. And this year’s Rams qualified again. Says Joe of his success: “Winning 200 games is a nice record but the total satisfaction I get out of coaching overshadow wins or losses. I love the game and always have and always will. What pleases me most is the longer I stay around the game the more I learn. And as for coaching at Suffolk University, one couldn’t find a better group of kids year in and year out.” And keep in mind, all Joe’s victories were on the road since Suffolk has never had a home baseball field...

A well-merited SUN beam this month on Suffolk’s Creative Services in UMS and the Development Department for winning a gold medal in the Council for Advancement and Support of Education’s Individual Fund-Raising Publications category. They won it for the most recent President’s Report. UMS Director Midge Wilcke was notified of the award. Some 166 entries were judged in the competition and only four gold medals were given out. Three silver medals and seven bronze medals were awarded...

His many friends and acquaintances will honor retiring Admissions Director Bill Coughlin at a Pier Four reception May 18. Tickets are $20 per person for the 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. gathering...

Incidentally, Coughlin and Police head John Pagliarulo were honored as co-administrators of the year by the Evening Division Student Association at its April 28 Recognition Night...

Left to right, John Pagliarulo, Edward O’Donnell, and Mike Ryan.

In a nice touch, Ed O’Donnell, the man Pagliarulo and Sgt. Mike Ryan revived in the Sawyer Library, visited the pair (see accompanying photo) recently and presented them with a plaque and clock expressing his thanks for their heroics. Pagliarulo, by the way, was among those the Harvard Crimson listed as potential candidates to succeed Harvard’s retiring Police Chief Paul E. Johnson. But Pag assures us he’s not a candidate and wants to stay at Suffolk...

As part of the 1995 Lowell Lecture Series which focuses on Family Ties: Bridging the Generation Gap, the planning committee will present world renowned pediatrician Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, on Wednesday May 24 at the C. Walsh Theatre. Dr. Brazelton’s topic will be “Does the Baby Make Its Own Environment.” He has written 24 books on pediatrics and development and published more than 180 scientific papers. The Texas native has been clinical professor of pediatrics emeritus at Harvard Medical School and still teaches and does research there...

Suffolk longtime staffers were saddened to learn that History Prof. Emeritus Charles Farley passed away April 5 at the age of 87. He taught at Suffolk from 1957 to 1974 and was a member of that memorable history department quartet of Farley, Ed Hartmann, Norman Floyd and Vahe Sarafian...

Paul Fahey, administrative assistant to Dean of Students Nancy Stoll, was inducted into Pi Alpha Alpha, the national honor society for public administration April 11. He is completing his term as vice president of the MPA Association and will receive his MPA degree in September...

The Women’s Center at Suffolk University announced its award winners at its annual dinner April 21 at the CMD Conference Room at 1 Beacon St. Honored were S.U. Police Officer Lee Romprey, Unsung Hero; Sandy Matava of Public Management, Outstanding Faculty Member; Tina Pacheco, president of the Program Council, Outstanding Student Leader; Deena Whitfield, president of the Mass. League of Women Voters, Outstanding Student Leader; and Jeannette Hixon, assistant director of Student Activities, Outstanding Administrator for Promoting Women’s Issues...

Attention golfers: Suffolk is sponsoring the 18th annual Alumni Golf Day Monday May 22 at the Spring Valley Country Club, Sharon, rain or shine. The cost: $125 per person, which includes golf cart, lunch, dinner and greens fee and also a shot at a 1995 Buick sponsored by Sgarzi Pontiac/Buick in Plymouth. All you have to do to win the Buick is to sink a hole in one...

Congratulations to Lauri Umansky of History and husband Peter Onek on the birth of their daughter, Wendy Mirabel Onek...

Lisa Keaney of Development extends her thanks to faculty and adminis-
Jonathan Frank of CIS has been active in the local K-12 community, receiving along with Hull High School Principal Bob McIntire a Nellie Mae grant to promote the use of the Internet at Hull High School in the ongoing Suffolk/Hull partnership. He recently organized a seminar for 130 Newton parents on "Preparing for College" featuring Dean Marguerite J. Dennis of Enrollment and Retention Management and Robert Claggett, senior admissions officer at Harvard-Radcliffe...

Warren Briggs reports that the Computer Information Systems met on April 13 and hosted guest speaker John Thomas Flynn, chief information officer of the Commonwealth, and a member of the CIS Advisory Council...

Marjorie Clapprood, who appeared recently at a panel discussion sponsored by the University, was so pleased by the Suffolk University T-shirt she was given that she wore it on the Clapprood/Whitley Show on WRKO the following morning. Clapprood is married to Suffolk alum Chris Spinazzola, B.A. `76...

The Board of Trustees has voted tenure to Law School Professors Marie Ashe and Robert P. Wasson Jr. Ashe teaches criminal law and constitutional law and joined the Suffolk faculty a year ago and previously directed the clinical law program at West Virginia University College of Law. Wasson has been on the faculty since 1983 and teaches courses in jurisprudence and civil rights/nontraditional families. He previously was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Nairobi in Kenya...

New Law School faculty are Anthony P. Polito, assistant professor, currently in the LLM program at New York University Law School, and Carter Grant Bishop, previously professor of law and founding director of the graduate tax program of the William Mitchell College of Law in St. Paul, Minnesota. He will be visiting professor of law...

The Board of Trustees approved leaves of absence for Law Profs Victoria J. Dodd, Linda C. Fentimen, and Charles M. Burnim...

The funeral of the late S.U. President Tom Fulham attracted hundreds of his admirers including former S.U. School of Management Dean Dick McDowell, who flew in from Chapman College, Orange, Calif. for the services...

It may have been overshadowed by other public activities, but one of Mr. Fulham and Mrs. Annette Fulham's most dedicated pursuits was the Meals on Wheels program in their home town of Wellesley...

Gail K. Sergenian and Stephen Tomczyk of SOM have been working with their accounting students in applying for external educational funding and are happy to report that Tina Chin, a junior from Randolph, was awarded a $2000 scholarship by the Boston Chapter of the Financial Executives Institute at its annual meeting at the Newton Marriott April 12...

Susan Lynch of MSF has been heartened by the enthusiastic response for summer softball with more than 20 members of the University community responding. Practices start June 6 and Susan hopes to schedule some games against local colleges like Emerson as well as faculty/administration vs. support staff. First practice is June 6 at the Charles Bank field. As a designated hitter, I hope I'll be allowed a designated runner. See you there.