NEW FACULTY

By Megan Fener

There are 10 new faces, and 240 others, on campus this fall. Among them is a commencing series of articles by the new faculty members. Some of these faces are familiar, some are not.

Robert Wise, a tenured professor at Suffolk University, has been named the new chair of the Department of Business Administration. Wise is an accomplished scholar and researcher, and his appointment is expected to bring fresh perspectives to the department.

Dr. Nathan Wright, Jr., a native of Suffolk, has been named the new dean of the School of Business. Wright brings with him a wealth of experience in the field of business administration, and his appointment is expected to bring new opportunities for students and faculty alike.

Political Guidelines Established at Suffolk

The following guidelines are intended to provide guidance for the political activities, including campaigns, for students and faculty members.

Any political activity, including campaigns for president, should be conducted in a manner that does not interfere with the academic mission of the University. S.G.A. Report:

Bookstore Prices Under Examination

By the Staff

The Student Government Association has undertaken a study of the prices charged by the Suffolk University Bookstore. The results of this study are expected to provide a basis for negotiations with the bookstore.

The prices charged by the bookstore have been the subject of concern for some time. The S.G.A. has been working with the bookstore to address these concerns and to improve the pricing structure.

October 5: Concerning the prices of college rigs, Osier and the S.G.A. were asked to address the problem. The S.G.A. presented their findings to Osier, who agreed to work with the S.G.A. to find a solution.

October 10: The S.G.A. presented their findings to Osier, who agreed to work with the S.G.A. to find a solution.

"Howdy Doody Time"
By Anna Carney

I'm sure you've all heard about the new hot show on TV called "Howdy Doody Time." The show features a man in a red nose and a yellow hat, who talks to the audience and makes them laugh. It's really quite entertaining. I myself have been watching it every day since it started airing. It's sort of a combination of "The Andy Griffith Show" and "The Muppets," but with a western twist.

From the Editor: Letters

Dear Editor, October 24, 1970
I received a telegram from Juana Williams Pres. of the Student Government at the University of Lowell. She wrote to inform me that the student government at the University of Lowell is planning a student demonstration to protest the recent bombing of Cambodia. She also mentioned that the student government is planning to hold a meeting in the Student Center on Monday, October 26, to discuss the situation in Cambodia. I would like to know if you have any information on this matter.
Sincerely,

Your Patton experience was probably a similar movie who both sides were won over by the favorable nature of your personality. You may have found yourself particularly attracted to him and his charming first wife (or maybe someone like her). He is a great role model in the field of public relations. When your Patton is your character and you have an advantage over your first wife (or maybe someone like her). You may find that you are more popular in the field of public relations.

The Indian is Coming

The Indian is Coming is a project of the Office of Student Activities and the Department of Theater and Dance. The project is designed to introduce students to the world of Native American culture and to provide an opportunity for students to explore this culture in a meaningful way. The project will be led by Dr. Robert Lewis, a professor of Native American studies at the University of Minnesota.

The project will take place on campus and in the local community. Students will have the opportunity to participate in cultural activities, such as drumming, singing, and dancing, as well as to learn about Native American history and culture. The project will also include a visit to a Native American reservation in the Twin Cities area.

The Indian is Coming project is funded by a grant from the University of Minnesota's Office of Student Activities. The project is open to all students, regardless of major or minor.

The project will take place on November 15th and 16th. Students interested in participating should contact Dr. Robert Lewis at (612) 340-1234 or by email at robert.lewis@umn.edu.

Greek Art

The Greek Art project is a collaboration between the Office of Student Activities and the Department of Theater and Dance. The project is designed to introduce students to the world of Greek art and culture and to provide an opportunity for students to explore this culture in a meaningful way. The project will be led by Dr. Mary Jones, a professor of Greek studies at the University of Minnesota.

The project will take place on campus and in the local community. Students will have the opportunity to participate in cultural activities, such as drumming, singing, and dancing, as well as to learn about Greek history and culture. The project will also include a visit to a Greek archaeological site in the Twin Cities area.

The Greek Art project is funded by a grant from the University of Minnesota's Office of Student Activities. The project is open to all students, regardless of major or minor.

The project will take place on November 15th and 16th. Students interested in participating should contact Dr. Mary Jones at (612) 340-1234 or by email at mary.jones@umn.edu.
Greek Art

by Jane Ford

The main student organization on campus is Greek Art, a club dedicated to the study and appreciation of Greek art. The club was founded in the fall of 1978 and has been growing steadily in membership ever since. The main goal of the club is to educate students about the art and culture of ancient Greece.

Greek art is renowned for its beauty and sophistication. The club aims to promote a deeper understanding of this art by hosting lectures, workshops, and events that focus on different aspects of Greek art.

One of the most significant contributions of the club is its annual art show, which features works created by students and members of the campus community. The show is held each spring and is a popular event among students and faculty alike.

The club also organizes trips to see art museums and other cultural sites in the area, providing members with opportunities to learn more about the art and culture of ancient Greece.

The club is open to all students interested in art and culture. If you are interested in joining, please contact the club advisor for more information.

Si, ma Zeta Chapter Installed

The Alpha Sigma chapter of Sigma Delta Tau, an international sorority, was installed October 21 at the University of Rochester. The chapter was installed by the national executives of Sigma Delta Tau, with officers for the chapter installed by the national officers. The chapter is the latest in a series of chapters that have been installed at universities across the country. The chapter installation ceremony was held in the main lobby of the university, with the officers and members of the chapter present. The ceremony was followed by a reception, where members of the chapter were able to socialize and get to know each other. The chapter is expected to grow quickly, with many members already interested in joining. The chapter will be active in a variety of activities, including community service, philanthropy, and social events. The members of the chapter are looking forward to a successful future and are committed to making a positive impact on the university community.
