THE FACTS

By Michael Allen

The GOP in Massachusetts is a serious threat if there appears to be a definite Democratic surge in the election day some ten days away. Sixty years ago the government was virtually controlled by the Republican,动态的 Li 来 from the city of Boston. But, as a global Democratic leader, the party was under siege by the conservative forces of the times.

Edward L. Cooper, executive director of the Massachusetts Republican Party, said there has been a "serious" interest in the upcoming election.

"The election is very close," said Cooper. "We may see a change in the governor's race, but it is too early to tell."

Cooper said the Republicans have been working hard to ensure a victory. "We have been working on the ground, knocking on doors, talking to voters."

Chances of a change in the governor's race are slim, Cooper said. "There is a strong possibility that the current governor will be re-elected."

In other news, the Massachusetts Republican Party has been working with the Kennedy family to ensure a strong showing on election day.

THE FACTS...

The GOP in Massachusetts is in serious trouble as there appears to be a definite Democratic surge in the election. Some 32 years ago the gubernatorial campaign was virtually non-existent, but a global Democratic victory brought by the energy and enthusiasm of the party on the eve of the last three years.

Edward L. Cooper, executive director of the Massachusetts Republican Committee, said the polls indicate a strong Republican showing.

"If we can keep the momentum going," he said, "we can make a comeback."

At the same time, the Democratic claims are based on the growing liberalism of the state.

"We have a strong liberal streak in this state," Cooper said. "We have to focus on the issues.""
BIGOTS MENACE KENTUCKY SCHOOLS

SHIVELY, Ky. — Some members of the Western Kentucky Chapter of the Ku Klux Klan are investigating "disintegrating" the schools in Kentuckiana.

This resulted from a speech by Robert Byrd, Democrat, at Madison, W.C.C. chairman, in which he decried the desegregated schools that should now be desegregated. The word "de-integrate" was too much for some of his listeners, who became extremely hostile and went into the community talking about "disintegrating" the schools.

The latter word is not far from redefining the activities of the segregationists in this suburb of Louisville. Shivilians are faced with a problem that dates back to the 1950s, with President Richard R. Franklin, Jr., hailing last week's primary election.

"In one county the largest protest votes recorded in a primary election were in charge of the office that is being conducted."

FURBUSH APPEALS TO DEMOCRATS

Democrats in Madison counties showed without a doubt that they have turned the issue of the registration administration of the election to the benefit of Senator Richard R. Fur-
