CHIEF JUSTICE McLAUGHLIN NAMED TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Chief Justice Walter H. McLaughlin of the Massachusetts Superior Court has been appointed a Suffolk trustee, filling the vacancy created by the death of Superior Court Judge Eugene A. Hudson last April 20.

Judge McLaughlin, who is a 1930 graduate of Suffolk Law School, was elected to a three-year term on the 21-man board. A member of a prominent legal family in Massachusetts, he was appointed an associate justice of the Superior Court in March of 1967 and was named that court's chief justice in October, 1970. He holds an honorary degree in juridical science from Suffolk University, and last spring the Student Bar Association selected him for the Dean Frederick A. McDermott award.

In other board action, former chairman George C. Seybolt was named a life trustee and Herbert C. Hambelton was named vice chairman of the board. Judge Hudson was vice chairman at the time of his death.

There remains one vacancy to fill on the board, the seat held by the late Joseph E. Sullivan, who died August 15 after a long illness.

#

UNITED FUND NEEDS A BOOST

The 1972 United Fund campaign is underway at Suffolk, and right now, it's in need of a reminder to staffers who have not delivered their pledges. Returns are running well behind last year with less than 30 per cent contributing to date.

Ed Saunders, assistant director of admissions, and chairman of Suffolk's drive, is hopeful for a late month flow of pledges which will raise the total to last year's level.

The tentative deadline for pledges is the first week of November.

#
THREE GRADS CITED BY GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Three distinguished graduates of Suffolk University were presented with the first annual Alumni Fellow Awards at a successful Homecoming Dinner held at the university, Saturday, October 14. More than 200 persons gathered for the event in the school cafeteria.

Recipients of the awards were Dr. Paul G. Buchanan, president of Dunbarton College, Washington, D.C.; George A. Strait, professor of law and law librarian at Antioch School of Law, also in Washington, and Judge Edward T. Martin of Middlesex Probate Court. Buchanan received a bachelor of science in business administration degree and a master of arts in education from Suffolk while Strait and Judge Martin are law school graduates.

All three were warmly received by those in attendance, but the biggest ovation of the evening went to Alumni Director Dorothy McNamara, a part of Suffolk for 45 years. Each of the recipients paid special tribute to Miss McNamara and each time, those in the audience responded with applause.

A feature of the evening was the introduction of the new 36-member slate of officers for Suffolk's reorganized Alumni Board of Directors. William Pepper, '68 and '69, Homecoming chairman, introduced the new members.

President Fulham hosted a reception before the roast beef dinner. Dancing followed until midnight.

In addition to fellowship recipients Buchanan and Strait, the dinner attracted other alumni from out of state. Michael J. Rano, Class of 1929, who was elected to the board, came all the way from Endicott, N.Y. while Gerard Devlin, Class of 1959, came up from Washington. Among those present was Frank Daniels of the Class of 1923, who was also elected to the board.

All in all, it was another memorable Alumni Function.

#

SUFFOLK HOSTS FEDERAL CAREER DAY ON OCTOBER 26

A Federal Career Day Program will be held in the main lobby of the Donahue Building on Thursday, October 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. with representatives from a variety of Federal agencies on hand to discuss governmental careers with students at all academic levels.

Placement Director James G. Woods notes that the day is not a recruiting effort but a means to provide students with information to help plan their future.

Among the agencies that will be on hand are Action, Electronic Systems Division of the U.S. Air Force, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, General Services Administration and the Internal Revenue Service and Department of Labor.

On November 13, these and other representatives will be in the College Placement Office in Room 21, Archer Building, to conduct interviews.
FIRE DRILLS - THEY'RE FOR YOUR PROTECTION

Last Wednesday's first fire drill of the year was a disappointment to say the least. As Vice President-Treasurer Francis X. Flannery reminded faculty and staffers in a memorandum, it took 12 minutes to clear the buildings. The fire official on hand did not consider this a good performance.

Efforts are underway to avoid such a delay during subsequent tests. Fraternity leaders will be asked to help clear the area outside the buildings and keep people moving and more administrative staff will play an active role. One of the biggest problems in Wednesday's drill was the congestion in the street, which would make it next to impossible for fire apparatus to get to the scene in the event of an actual fire.

Building Superintendent Ivan Banks said classroom conversion and renovation may have contributed to the delay since about 100 students who would ordinarily use the Ridgeway Lane exit now use the Temple Street exit because of relocation. The exit flow pattern for fire drills will be altered as a result in this area.

Flannery urges cooperation by all faculty and staffers. "The success of the drill depends upon this cooperation and we must remember these drills are for your protection despite any inconvenience they may cause," he said.

He concluded: "As soon as a fire drill is sounded, all occupants of the Archer and Donahue buildings must leave the premises immediately. Upon reaching the exits, all personnel must move as far away from the buildings as possible since the main entrance should be kept clear and those exiting on Temple Street should continue down Temple Street."

SUFFOLK INTRAMURAL PROGRAM IS UNDERWAY

The university's first full-fledged intramural program is now in full progress under the direction of James Nelson, assistant basketball coach and physical education instructor.

A total of 84 undergraduates and law students are participating in a flag football program which is held on Boston Common. Eight teams make up the league, and according to Nelson, the response has been excellent.

"In addition, there are other students using the Boston Y.M.C.U. for individual physical education purposes," Nelson reported. "Come winter, we will have a basketball league and more than 100 students are expected to take part."

Nelson, who also coaches Suffolk's cross-country team and assists Charles Law in the regular basketball program, praised the work of his student coordinator, Joseph Shanahan, a first-year law student, and student assistants, Paul Parsons, Marty Conry, Joe Walsh, and Chet Komejko.

"In the spring we envision a co-ed softball program," Nelson added. "Our biggest difficulty to date has been a class scheduling problem. Our game times are 3:15 and 4:15 p.m. and some students have class conflicts, but overall it's been successful with only two games called off."
JOURNALISM STUDENTS IN Workshop, Chase DEADLINES

Pressures and true to life deadlines, long the bane of working newspapermen, are now facing Suffolk journalism students.

Ensooned in their new quarters at 45-47 Mt. Vernon St., S.U.'s journalism students are experiencing the most practical approach to journalism ever offered at Suffolk. Twenty-five typewriters have been installed in the "newsroom" and students are given their assignments by instructors and carry them out as actual rewrite men would in a newspaper city room.

One of the fastest growing departments in the university, the Journalism College now has 139 day students, 44 of them women, and 28 evening students, 12 of them female. The department now has two full-time faculty and five part-time instructors.

"We are very enthusiastic about the steps that have been taken," reports Journalism Chairman Malcolm J. Barach. "Many of the students could already type and those who can't are learning rapidly. We now have four introductory courses, three day and one in the evening."

Barach traced the resurgence in journalism to the present era. "It's a going thing in American society, like science caught on after Sputnik," he noted. "Young people are interested in the mass media and are living in an age where they want to express themselves."

For the past two years, the Journalism Department has sponsored high school newspaper competition contests, which in themselves have brought attention to Suffolk's growing department. Barach plans to expand this year's competition.

In the meantime, the typewriters continue their clackety clack at the Mount Vernon Street building, and deadlines are being met.

BUSINESS COLLEGE CHRISTENS NEW QUARTERS

Suffolk's new Business College quarters were officially christened with a house warming gathering hosted by Dean Robert C. Waehler on Tuesday, October 17.

More than 100 faculty and staffers enjoyed a reception and tour of the building. Also in attendance were several members of the advisory council of the business school, trustees, and officials from neighboring business colleges. The reception was held in the Dean's Conference Room on the first floor.

"We are certainly grateful to the student leaders and secretaries and staffers who gave of their time to act as tour guides," Dean Waehler observed. "We are delighted with the way things are going and but for a few unfinished projects, we are just about settled."

The Business School and Journalism Department are expected to have their telephone service connected to the university's main switchboard shortly.
A quick get well this month goes to Professor John White of Education who is confined to Mount Auburn Hospital and may be laid up for a little while. Cards can be sent to Room 511B at Mount Auburn, 330 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge...A belated welcome to new law professor Thomas F. Lambert Jr. Previously editor-in-chief of the American Trial Lawyers Association, he was graduated from UCLA where he was president of the student body, and holds a B.A. in jurisprudence, a B.C.L. and an M.A. in jurisprudence, all from Oxford. In addition, he was awarded the Sterling Fellowship for Graduate Law at Yale University...The Evening Division's annual Octoberfest at the Old Vienna Hofbrau proved to be one of the biggest ever. "I feel it was the most successful to date," reports Dean Joe Strain, who estimated more than 300 in attendance and while the brew consumption didn't rival Munich's fest, it was up from '71...To clear up an apparent misconception, Dr. Arthur West of Biology is not on leave of absence but on reassignment from Suffolk to the National Science Foundation and technically still in Suffolk's employ...Dr. Dion Archon of Government and Economics is now a member of the Harvard Club...The Chase Kimballs have purchased a house in the Bahamas with private beach and beautiful view. The Kimballs also own a home in the Dutch volcanic island of Saba near St. Martin, which they use on occasional long weekends...Assistant Basketball Coach Jim Nelson, still an excellent player as he approaches the advanced age of 30, will be on the sidelines for awhile, the result of a broken ankle in a recent game, but he still manages to head the intramural program, coach cross-country and aid Charlie Law in basketball...

MATERNITY DEPARTMENT - Professor Paul Ezust of Mathematics and wife, Miriam, have added a daughter, Emily, to their family. She was born October 6 at Beth Israel Hospital. The Ezusts already have a three-year old son, Sammy. Dick Santeusanio of Education and wife, the former Joan Russick, welcomed a son at Boston Lying-In. The baby weighed in at 8 1/2 pounds and will be named David John. Former College Recorder Barbara Latture and hubby, John, greeted their first child, a 6 pound 12 ounce son, Stephen James...The full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court has appointed Law Professor Alexander Cella to a four-year term on the Mass. Defenders Committee. Cella is the only law professor on the 11-member committee, which oversees the operation of the Public Defenders System, the agency providing representation in the courts for all indigent criminal defendants...Law School Professor Charles P. Kindregan has been appointed to the Family Law Committee of the Massachusetts Bar Association. Professor Kindregan and Mrs. Kindregan have been elected co-chairmen of the Beacon-Hill Peter Fanuiel Parent-Teachers Association and in addition, Mrs. Kindregan has been elected director of religious education for the parish council of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in the West End...Law School Admissions Director John C. Deliso reminds us that the new office is in full swing and its extensions are 309, 219, and 220 and his staff consists of Deliso, Pamela Mehringer and Anita Curtis...

SUFFOLK'S ENGLISH DEPARTMENT has an expert on the writings of the late young American poet Sylvia Plath. She's Prof. Harriet Rosenstein and as evidence you can read Miss Rosenstein's article "Reconsidering Sylvia Plath" in the September issue of Ms. Magazine. Dr. Stanley Vogel, chairman of English, tells us the article has already attracted the attention of several leading publishers negotiating for a full-length book on the subject which Miss Rosenstein is writing...The Modern Language Club is planning a three-day trip to Quebec City in December. The club, popular again this year, has about 60 members...Yvette Brophy of the Law School Registrar's office is looking forward to a two-week vacation in Miami and Nassau early in November...Dean Robert Waehler and Professor Roger Volk attended the New England Conference on Business Administration at the University of New Hampshire New England Center earlier this month...Miss Nanette Citron, part-time lecturer in Economics, has been awarded her doctor of philosophy in economics from Boston College...Dr. Evelyn Harmer has been appointed a part-time lecturer in government. The former Evelyn Saunders, she is a 1960 Suffolk grad and earned her M.A. and Ph.D. from Brandeis...Somewhat overlooked in the big move to Mt. Vernon Street and renovation at Temple Street, was the slick performance by Suffolk's service department. Ivan Bank's team did a nice job. Statistics can be dull but a look at the service department's monthly report for August and September provides some interesting figures: 696 fluorescent tubes installed (never knew we had that many), 76 light bulbs changed, 56 furniture moving jobs, 14 new locks installed, 131 deliveries made, and 171 keys made. That's just a sampling but all told there were 444 job orders completed...In a hockey mad town, it's refreshing to hear that Bill Courchesne of Data Processing is a Celtics season ticket holder. "And I'm a French-Canadian" Courchesne adds with a laugh.

(Continued on Page 6)

NEW MEMBERS WANTED - Rayeanne King, secretary to the director of student affairs, has issued a call for members for the new ecology organization on campus. S.A.V.E. (Suffolk Action for a Vital Environment), under direction of Paul Ezust of Mathematics, is working on a project to recycle paper as part of its drive to disseminate information on ecologically sound ways of living. Those interested should call Mrs. King at Extension 386...President Fulham concedes time flies as he marked two years in the corner office on October 19...Beauty star Jennifer O'Neill solicits for the United Fund on television and since she can't be at Suffolk as well, make sure you give your donations to her fellow-UF worker, Ed Saunders in Admissions...Speaking of Admissions, Bill Coughlin, toastmaster general of Suffolk, will be the keynote speaker at Brockton High School's College Night October 26...Evelyn and Mike Reilly recently celebrated 26 years of bliss...Capt. Anthony DeVico of Law Placement, retired military judge in the Navy, recently donned his uniform to present honorary admiral commissions in the Great Navy of Nebraska to Bank President Anthony F. Viola and Quincy Baker Ernest J. Montilo. The presentations were made on behalf of the governor of Nebraska...Beverly Rose has transferred from the Development Office to the Business College...Another new secretary in Business is Rita J. Kane of South Boston...Law faculty has a new secretary - Christine Weiss of Philadelphia...

MCGOVERN BEATS NIXON - McGovern outpolled Nixon. That's right! In the contest for 36 new alumni directors, Patricia McGovern, AB 1962 and JD 1966, captured 253 votes to the 200 votes of James J. Nixon Jr., JD 1955. Both won seats on the board...Wedding bells ring Saturday, November 4 for my girl Friday, Julie Laughlin. She marries Frank Sablone, BSBA 1970, M.Ed 1971, recently elected to the Alumni Board...For those who think young - youthful looking John Colburn of English (sort of a Robert Cummings of Suffolk) has a 2-year old daughter and a 4-year old, yes, a 4-year old, GRANDDAUGHTER...John says carrot juice and jogging help keep him young...See you in November...