S.U. TO AWARD 10 HONORARY DEGREES; BLEICKEN SPEAKER

Ten honorary degrees will be awarded at the June 10 commencement exercises at John B. Hynes Veterans' Auditorium, President Fulham has announced. About 1000 earned degrees will be conferred at the 2:30 p.m. exercises.

Gerhard D. Bleicken, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., will be the speaker and receive the honorary degree of doctor of commercial science.

Other honorary degree recipients will be:

- Associate Justice Edward F. Hennessey of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. Doctor of Laws.
- Capt. Eleanor Creed L'Ecuyer, United States Coast Guard Women's Reserve, chief, Reserve Administration Division. Doctor of Juridical Science.
- Associate Justice Charles A. Pomeroy of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court. Doctor of Laws.
- Associate Justice Thomas J. Paolino of Rhode Island Supreme Judicial Court. Doctor of Laws.
- Dr. Abram L. Sachar, chancellor of Brandeis University. Doctor of Humane Letters.
CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT WINS ACS APPROVAL

Suffolk's Chemistry Department has been named to the approved list of the American Chemical Society, the prestigious body made up of chemists from education, industry and government.

President Fulham received notification from the Society's Committee on Professional Training which had evaluated Suffolk's program. In its approval, the Committee noted that the Chemistry Department had made such excellent progress that an on site visit, usually conducted, was not needed to complete the favorable report.

The approval came on the heels of a trip to Dallas by Dr. Maria Bonaventura, department chairman, for interviews with the Committee. "It is delightful news," Dr. Bonaventura exclaimed, "and a tribute to all of the people in the department who have worked so diligently in recent years."

Suffolk's bid for listing in the society began under Dr. Michael Ronayne, former chemistry chairman, last May. After Ronayne was named dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Dr. Bonaventura continued the project. It involved compiling a history of the staff, equipment, enrollment, textbooks used, and other detailed study.

Dr. Bonaventura pointed out that students completing the upcoming B.S. or B.A. degree program in chemistry will be certified to the American Chemical Society and eligible for full membership. Previously, they had to serve an associate membership for three years before applying for full membership.

CASTANINO WILL HEAD CRIME-URBAN STUDIES PROGRAM

Dr. D. Donald Fiorillo, chairman of the Sociology Department, announces the appointment of Gary Castanino as director of the Crime and Urban Studies Program beginning in the Fall.

Castanino, a 1967 graduate of Suffolk University (A.B.), received his master of arts degree from the University of Maine at Orono and is commencing work on his Ph.D. at Northeastern. He is in his fifth year of faculty service at Suffolk.

The appointment is an extension of Suffolk's Crime-Urban Studies Program. In his new position, Castanino will oversee development of the program, teach and handle all administrative responsibilities. A full-time instructor is expected to be added for the program in the Fall.

Castanino, assistant professor of sociology, lives in Marshfield with his wife, the former Kathleen Flaherty of Waltham, and two daughters.
COBSCOOK BAY DEDICATION WILL HONOR FRIEDMAN MEMORY

The memory of Dr. Robert S. Friedman will be honored when dedication ceremonies are held at Suffolk's Cobscook Bay Laboratory on October 6 and 7.

Plans are underway for the two-day program involving Suffolk and a consortium of nine New England colleges. The dedication ceremony will be held on Sunday, October 7 at 2 p.m. with a procession and speaking program and a distinguished speaker to be announced later.

Dr. Beatrice Snow of the Steering Committee said that the all-purpose facility at Cobscook Bay will be dedicated in memory of Dr. Friedman, who died April 8. "The building will not be named for Bob, because we feel that by his nature he would not want it to, but the dedication will be in his honor," Dr. Snow explained.

It is expected that several of Suffolk's family will join with President Fulham in the program. Cobscook Bay is approximately 320 miles from Boston and transportation and motel accommodations are available.

ESKEDAL NAMED DIRECTOR OF COUNSELOR EDUCATION

There will be several new faces in the Education Department next Fall, Dr. Donald M. Unger, chairman of the department, reports.

Glen A. Eskedal, assistant professor of psychological services, is joining the Education Department as the new director of counselor education. He came to Suffolk in 1971. He has a bachelor of science degree from King's College, a master of arts degree from Michigan State University, and recently earned his doctorate from Boston University.

Two new full-time faculty in Education are Dr. R. Arthur Winters, assistant professor and counselor of education, and Dr. Joseph M. McCarthy, director of programs in secondary education. Dr. Winters has his Ph.D. from University of Buffalo, a bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Rutgers, and his master of education from Buffalo. Dr. McCarthy, who was a lecturer at Boston College, has an A.B. from St. John's Seminary and an A.M. and Ph.D. from Boston College.

Dr. Unger also announced the names of four part-timers who will be teaching in the Fall. They are: Ronald E. Feintech (B.S., University of Iowa, Ph.D., University of Nebraska) lecturer in counselor education; Ellis J. Swartz (A.B., Williams, A.M., Harvard) lecturer in secondary methodology in modern languages; Mrs. Maureen A. Walsh (A.B., Anna Maria College, M.Ed., Worcester State College), lecturer in elementary art methodology, and John F. Raftery (A.B., Suffolk, M.Ed., Boston College, Ed.D., Boston University) lecturer in counselor education.
PRESIDENT FULHAM - He will be among an illustrious group of educators in the marine sciences who will speak at the July 17-19 conference in Seattle, Washington on "The Oceans and National Economic Development." President Fulham will chair a panel that includes Dr. Athelstan F. Spilhaus, "dean" of American oceanography now with the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington, D.C.; Dr. John Craven, dean of marine programs at the University of Hawaii; Dr. Niels Rorholm, coordinator of Sea Grant Programs at University of Rhode Island; and Dr. Edward Wenk of the University of Washington, formerly executive secretary of the National Council of Marine Resources and Engineering Development... The conference is aimed at planning the future of the nation's marine effort for the remainder of this century.

MRS. JOAN EVANS deALONZO, associate professor, Modern Languages - Her many friends and department associates at Suffolk tendered her a retirement party May 15 in the President's Conference Room. Among the gifts presented to her was a traveling tote bag, to which a grateful Mrs. deAlonzo replies through these pages: Dear Friends and Colleagues: What a wonderful party! Thank you all so much for your kindness and warmth which made it so much easier for me to say -- "Hasta la vista" -- Goodbye, until we meet again," which I hope will be soon.

DR. DION ARCHON AND WILLIAM F. HOMER - These two veteran Suffolk faculty members were cited by the General Alumni Association at the annual Alumni Day dinner Saturday, May 19 at the university. Both were presented captains chairs at the affair and warmly received by the alumni, many of whom remember the two from bygone Suffolk days. Dr. Archon and Homer have been at Suffolk for 20 years. Archon is chairman of government and economics while Homer, a long-time financial editor for the late Herald-Traveler, is a member of Suffolk's Journalism faculty.

MRS. PAMELA HARDY, R.N. of Quincy - Meet our new evening nurse. Mrs. Hardy is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va. where she received her bachelors in nursing. She previously was affiliated with the Shriners' Burns Institute in Boston and Massachusetts General Hospital and was a private nurse in Barcelona, Spain. Her hours during the regular academic year will be 4:45 p.m. to 9:35 p.m. and during the summer sessions Monday to Thursday 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Mrs. Hardy succeeds Wendy Lindley, who recently became the bride of Robert J.E. Lovegrove of Montreal.

MRS. ELIZABETH WILLIAMS, associate professor of psychology - She has accepted an invitation from the American Management Associations to give a seminar at the 9th annual conference on education in New York at the Americana Hotel August 7,8,9 and will speak on "Educational Objectives." She also received a commendation from the Mass. Personnel and Guidance Association for her work in preparing the conference, Counseling Women Today for Tomorrow.

MRS. JUDITH DUSHKU - Congratulations, Judy, to you and your husband, Philip, on the birth of your first child, a 7-pound 14 ounce son, Aaron Philip, born April 26. Mrs. Dushku delivered her son at Boston Lying-In Hospital. She will return to Suffolk's Government Department in the Fall.
In this age of Women's Lib, it had to be pretty frustrating for the females when Bobby Riggs destroyed Margaret Court in tennis. But how about a man coming out first in a baking contest over Suffolk secretaries! Jim Hambleton of the Library, whose French crepe recipe was adjudged best of the show at the Spring Fest, insists he meant no offense and was surprised he won. But take heart, gals. Jim's date for the evening, Lesya Struz gets part of the credit. It was her recipe, although Jim did the baking. Anway, Jim and Lesya enjoyed the prize, dinner for two at Jimmy's Harborside last Saturday night. Other prize winners were Mary Ann Bossi for a cherry whipped cream cake and Terry Magno for her fruit cream cake.

Worth a look is the showcase in the lobby of the Donahue Building and Dick Jones' interesting archives exhibit. Notice that one of the gentlemen in the photo of the 1957 honorary degree recipients is Sen. Sam Ervin, presently the chairman of the Watergate Senate Committee. Other honorary degree recipients that year were then Senators Saltonstall and (John) Kennedy and Gov. Foster Furcolo... Bob Jennings of Education has been elected secretary-treasurer of the New England Philosophy of Education Society.

Judy Harrison of Psych Services was advisor to Suffolk's 12-person delegation representing Zambia at the National Model UN at New York's Statler Hilton. The group enjoyed an in-depth briefing with a representative of Zambia's UN delegation. Suffolk placed 10th out of approximately 130 schools across the nation, a significant finish. Mrs. Harrison was filling in for Judy Dushku, who was welcoming a son in Boston. Mrs. Harrison has been named corresponding secretary for the Historic Salem, Inc... Congratulations to Dr. Catherine Fehrer of Languages, Dr. Edward G. Hartmann of History and Dr. Stanley M. Vogel of English, who marked 25 years of teaching at Suffolk this year...

A nice touch to this year's Recognition Day program was Activities Director Jim Peterson's idea to invite parents of the honored students to the ceremonies. It not only increased interest in the program but enabled Suffolk's family to meet the moms and dads of these students... Jim Woods, College Placement Director, has been reelected treasurer of the New England Association of Schools, Colleges and University Staffing... Our sympathies to Custodian Larry Kellett and family on the passing of Mrs. Dorothy Kellett, matron at Suffolk for some time... The College Library has a new staffer. She is Janice Fennell of Revere... Ellen Burns, transfer counsellor was a panelist at the State Transfer Articulation Committee's confab at the Sheraton Regal Inn in Hyannis. Ellen also enjoyed a week's vacation in Copenhagen... Angela Garcia, secretary to Dean Strain, has been elected president of the Evening Division Student Association for 1973-74... And Arthur Chiasson of Modern Languages reports that one of his students, Justine Gornay might have realized a dream to spend her junior year abroad by winning $2500 in The Game, our Mass. lottery... Dr. Beatrice Snow of Biology was unanimously elected permanent secretary of the Eastern New England Biological Conference. The 31st annual conference was held at Suffolk on Saturday, April 28...

Suffolk's 4-day week for secretaries begins the week of July 9 and terminates on Friday, August 31. Personnel Director Judy Minardi reminds us that it is a trial period and stresses the importance of offices being well-covered and attendance strictly enforced... Admissions Director Bill Coughlin and assistant Ed Saunders missed by two selling out their recent dinner for guidance counselors at the school. They invited 52 high school counselors and 50 showed up. Good show! Coughlin, by the way, was moderator for a two-day conference of the State Transfer Articulation Committee in Hyannis... Our best wishes to Carol Kaplan, clerk-typist in the Accounting Office, who is leaving soon for a teaching position in the Fall after finishing up on her Masters degree... Jean Sullivan, wife of Suffolk's dean of students, will have two graduations to attend on June 4. At 5:30 p.m., son Dennis III will graduate from Needham High School. Earlier that day, Dad, Dennis Bradley Sullivan Jr., will receive his doctorate in education from Boston College. Congratulations to Dennis III and Dennis Jr., er-rather Brad... Dr. James Fiore of Biology attended the New England Estuarine Research Society meeting at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole... Dr. Ilse Fang of Modern Languages will brush up on her German at the Nurnberg Bach Festival this summer and study German methods of language instruction... Pat Brown, assistant law librarian, has been named to the advisory board of Children's Haven, a Christian organization working in the inner city of Boston, and is also listed in the 1973 edition of the Dictionary of International Biography... Business Prof. Roger Shawcross coordinated a successful career information exchange on the insurance industry on April 28 featuring three distinguished speakers in the field. It will now become an annual event.

Dr. D. Donald Fiorillo of Sociology announces the following students have been selected as undergraduate teaching fellows for the academic year, 1973-74: W. Timothy Anderson, James Biggins, Paul Bonardi, Timothy Collins, Mark Foster, Michael Gness, Julianne Marchankevicz, William McDonough, Paul McLaughlin and Harry Nichols... In addition to approval by the American Chemical Society, the Suffolk Chemistry Department was heartened by an $8400 foundation grant for scholarships in clinical chemistry... Not every guy has a sister who is Miss U.S.A. so it's easy to see why second-year law student Joe Jones is wearing a proud smile these days. Joe's sister, Amanda Jones of Illinois, just voted Miss U.S.A., will vie for Miss Universe in Athens this summer... For purposes of identification, it might be more fitting to call the Wright Potter Building the 32 Derne St. Building until it gets an official name... In closing out this academic year, The SUN extends its thanks to all of those faithful correspondents out there who have helped to fill these pages for nine editions. A pleasant summer wherever your travels take you...
