Social Calendar

The reception of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Joseph was one of the social events of the season on Saturday evening, May 15 at the International Institute. His charming bride, the former Mrs. Kumi Washington of Chicago, came to Boston to serve in the integration program at the Christian Science Publishing Society in the circulation department. The couple will reside in Roxbury.

Spring Clean-Up

BOSTON EDUCATION CITY-WIDE CLEAN-UP PAINT-UP FIX-UP through May 31. "Clean-Up is a vital individual and community effort," said Dr. John H. Conley, Boston's Health Commissioner. "Accumulations of rubbish, garbage and refuse are breeding places for flies, vermin, and rats and are therefore, a potential menace to health." Wen Powell is being singled out because he does not bite his tongue in civil rights for his people. All eyes will be on the government as it proceeds on the civil cause.

Speaking at the afternoon session on May 13, Mr. Marshall challenged those who say "you can't end segregation with the law." The whole racial structure in the South was created by law," he declared. "I was a law and not a law for those who wish to keep whites and Negroes apart. And those barriers should be removed by law."

Belkiah Kinendi
Concert Thrills

The quality of a artist is not always gauged by the size of the audience that hears him and this was certainly the case of Hezekiah Reid's recent baritone recital at the Atrium Hall. Unfortunately, the day coincided with that of the DePaul chorus' only Boston appearance, here are evidently not enough regular patrons of such cultural events on the same day, plus the curtailment of escapades occasioned by the recession.

Mr. Reid's full-throated rendition of opera arias and Spirituals places him in the category of artists whom one desires to hear again under more favorable circumstances. Perhaps greater numbers of listeners will also bask some of the theatricality of his platform presence and he will come before us without the distraction of a Venetian headdress reminiscent of the "most great and inestimable" Hezekiah who also made his eloquent appeal.

We respectfully differ with the President. Negroes have been patient and moderate for 90 years and what have they got? Another denial of the face, I don't know any white people who would tolerate what is rightfully and legally theirs.

The NAACP leader also raised the question of what's behind the indictment of Congressman Adam Powell of New York whom he called "a great spokesman for civil rights." COMPUND INTEREST ON LITTLE ROCK

President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon were brusque in their nationalities and almost wounded for our purposes. The unprecedented mob violence to which they were subjected during their Southern tour reached the nadir in Venezuela, where their very lives were endangered. On the whole, absent was the reservoir of goodwill which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt had engendered, and malice was obvious and vehement wherever it appeared—among disgruntled students or the general populace swayed by the incitements of agitators. Perhaps no single factor may be felt to have joined the two Southern phenomena—Lil Rock incident on hostile posters and placards borne byPicketers that emphasized the fact that racism is the shameful blot on the shield of our foreign policy. To be sure, the atmosphere of secrecy, at least as far as the Vice President's opponents had other undemocratic axes to grind. Some of them were certainly using the just grievances of American Negroes for their own domestic political ends.

Just before the Vice President's tour began, at a Washington meeting of the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc., on April 28, Rev. Dr. John LaFave, SVD, pastor of St. Gabriel Roman Catholic Church, Mount Bayou, Alabama, asked the Southern Civil Rights leaders to send members of their staff to those states where Negroes are prevented from exercising their Constitutional right to vote. These staff members ought to make the trip, says FDR, and at least three or four of the Vice President's staff may be heard from their own lips, and the executive, the Congress, and the courts may know what is happening while there is still time to provide a remedy.

What to do if there was another policy of border culminating in results to Old Glory and to the second highest executive officer of our government, all Americans should take counsel together, as President Eisenhower hinted in his remarks at the last 12 lunchtime meeting of Negro leaders sponsored by the National Council of Churches Association. The President declared: "To my mind, every America, whatever or his religion, his color, his race, or anything else, (civil rights here and in the world) does as any individual who may have felt embarrassment or resentment because those rights have not been properly observed." This concern must be realistic, determined, and persistent. As the President advised, "We must have patience and forbearance," but our continued exercise of these virtues must not be construed as complacent surrender. We cannot promise him to make sure that enforcement will not in itself create facts" since our case is the judgments of Almighty God "true and righteous altogether."

New Purchase Plan Offered
Early this month, as an additional service for its customers, the Boston Edison Company inaugurated its plan for selling electric ranges, clothes dryers, and water heaters at install prices. The price tag of these appliances includes installation costs, and the arrangements have been made for installation work done as part of the purchase; if the attractive offer applies to installations.

There have been many recent developments on the top level of the appliance manufacturers, each point that consumer pricing may ever be the same. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

By Gerald J. Murphy, District Manager 80 Warren St., Roxbury Post 216, Boston, Mass., to the Editor of this paper.

QUESTIONS and Answers:

The first 44 years old and believe I may be eligible for disability insurance benefits. If I made no contributions, what would be the answer to the question of something for my wife and children?—E. G. Boston, Mass.

ANSWER: A disabled worker's dependents do get Social Security benefits until they reach age 65, unless he should pass on before age 65.

QUESTIONS and Answers:

Business Security

By Eli Ginberg.

QUESTIONS and Answers:

By James R. Anderson, Douglas W. Bray, and Robert W. Smuts, manufacturers evidence which was valid before the recession to show the expansion of Negro economic opportunities which are on the upward march. This is a new challenge facing the Negro as the artificial employment barriers which it is still being successful in. Indeed, wide gaps still in income and level of jobs. It is true, however, (p. 40) that "within the short span of fifty years, the economic opportunities of the Negro in the United States have increased steadily." Dr. Ginberg warns: "Yet, unemployment is unacceptably high, for the position of the North and West the Negro is far from having equality of opportunity. To reach this goal he needs much help."

What to do with expertise, the aid of social service or govern ment agencies like settlement houses, anti-poverty programs (pp. 43): "Because the social work deficiencies in the community environments, and in the schools themselves, the Negro have far less opportunity to acquire a solid education that does make the most of the lives among whom they live. A man's Negro education is essentially the same in determining his eventual success."
Buckley at Arena

Johnny Buckley, matchmaker for the Shakerly A. A. announces in the Boston Daily Record, that he will run a series of 12 programs starting Monday, May 20, in the Boston Arena.

What a break Boston's young fighters will get to show themselves on even terms. I feel sure that they will take great advantage of the opportunity and I hope that they will be shown in a worthy manner. However, there is the one clause which must be cleared up, and that is the money angle.

Mr. Silverman's offer gives Tibbs a break. Now since Tibbs and Mr. Goldman have fought themselves up to the top, why should they give all the breaks to Soro?

Mr. Goldman will give away one break. He is Tibbs' manager. He acts in that manner if you meet him half way. If Mr. Silverman is willing to pay the price of a good fighter, the only terms which Mr. Goodman asks are fair Tibbs will fight two Pugs, he does not promise to win every fight, but he will give plenty of action.

Boston Tops!

Including all weights, Tibbs is the greatest fighter whom we have had in Boston in twenty-five years. Regardless of his nationality, let us give him what he deserves. Tommy travels the world over fighting all comers, and he wins nine out of ten of his fights. That beats the record for Boston fighters. Good luck to Tommy Tibbs and Charlie Goldman.
