To School Bills

On January 13, 1955, I stood on the floor of Congress and said: "Within three years our country will be a second-class country.

My statement has become all too truthtful. But I would like also to assure you that during the period that this bill of mine was before the committee, the Department of the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and the President's Council on Education in War, sent to him on December 18, I have been at the direction of my Chairman, Congressmen Graham Barden, even though during that second card, the Department of the Alphabet of the United States, the Department of National Affairs, has been beneficial and necessary. It is obvious, therefore, that we are behind the times and are becoming a second-class country due to the indifference of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and the President's Council on Education in War, and we hope not too late, be-

THE STORY BEHIND THE STORY

The Chinese economic system has been significantly influenced by political changes. Government policies have played a crucial role in shaping the economy, with the transition from a planned economy to a market-based system. This transition has been characterized by increased foreign trade and investment, as well as reforms aimed at promoting economic growth and social welfare. The role of the government in economic decision-making has evolved, with a greater emphasis on market forces and less direct intervention. However, the government continues to play a significant role in the economy, particularly in areas such as public infrastructure, education, and health care. These policies have had a profound impact on the country's economic development, influencing growth, poverty reduction, and the quality of life for its citizens.
EVERYBODY IS TALKING ABOUT IT

Long ago, Fahtor Divine affirmed: "Peace, it's truly wonderful," and consistent pacifists have never needed that affirmation because they have opposed all wars even at the risk of going to jail as conscientious objectors. After two world wars in the first half of the century, mankind probably have a decent respect for the convictions of pacifists and agree, with the injunction expressed in the spiritual, "to study war no more."

Peace is on the agenda for humanity, if we may judge from the statements of our leaders. First, there was the message of Pope Pius XII on Christmas Eve, urging the abolition of nuclear bomb tests. Second, the Afro-Asian Solidarity Conference in Cairo, Egypt, made the same demand. Third, nine thousand scientists of 45 lands on both sides of the Iron Curtain have signed a petition urging immediate action, by international agreement, to stop tests of nuclear bombs, and Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology, winner of the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1954, has presented the petition to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations. Meanwhile, President Eisenhower and Premier Bulganin compete with each other in sending peace proposals; the predictable result will be another summit conference at Geneva some time soon.

Under the leadership of the American Friends Service Committee, 195 Brattle St., Cambridge, petitions have been circulated in the Greater Boston community to ask President Eisenhower for the cessation of nuclear bomb testing. Chakravarti Raiagopachari, first Indian Governor General of India, has asked the Soviet Union to be the first to renounce unconditionally the use of nuclear weapons.

All the foregoing peace activity will certainly be beneficial in the long run, perhaps even in the short run.

WELCOME, CHIEF JUSTICE!

Beginning tomorrow, Sunday, January 19, Boston will be favored with a visit by the Chief Justice of Ghana, Sir Kobina Arku Korshah, and his wife, Lady Korshah. The couple are the first Africans holding British titles of nobility or genuity to be received as official visitors by Mayor John B. Hynes or Governor Foster Furcolo, and so their appearance will be unprecedented and therefore historic. Moreover, as an outstanding jurist, Sir Arku will walk in the groves with the sages of the Harvard Law School, those masters of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence who have often rendered such valuable service to new nations like Ghana by contributing their expert knowledge to codifying their laws. All the jurists will delight in honoring the Chief Justice, who comes to us from afar, and they will strain through contact with him, however brief and transitory, that lively sense of the far-flung rationality of the law which will enhance their own skill on the benches of even courts of the first instance.

On behalf of the entire Greater Boston community, comprising as it does persons of various races, creeds, colors, and national origins, we welcome Sir Arku and his lady.

QUESTIONs And ANSWERS

By Gerald J. McManus District Manager 96 Warren St. (Please send your questions to the Editor of this paper.)

Q: My sister has been collecting Social Security for herself and her husband. She gave birth to another child four months after her husband died. Is it possible for her to collect for this child, too?

A: B. W., Roxbury, Mass.

Q: Yes. Your sister should present the child's birth certificate to her Social Security office and file a claim.

Q: We are in May, 1968, and am a widow whose husband never worked under Social Security. I worked in a Social Security job from July, 1943 to June, 1946. Do I have five quarters so that I can collect when I am 65?

Q: Because the information you furnish, you need 12 quarters of work to be fully insured and must have 15 quarters. Since you attained age 65 in 1967, it appears that you are entitled to a reduced benefit right now. You should file a claim at your Social Security office to see if you should file for payments immediately.

ALIENS MUST REGISTER BY 31ST

The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service reminded all aliens, citizens, and their dependents that only thirteen days remain to comply with the January 31 deadline to register for unemployment benefits.

Director Foster Furcolo has proclaimed January 1958 as "Alien Address Report Month" and called upon all citizens, employees, and officials of the Commonwealth to assist in the registration campaign for every alien within the State of Mass., to comply with the law. State Directors of all Adult Civic Education Centers, Agents of Americanization, welfare services, Refuge Agencies, and Veterans organizations will cooperate in the address program.

District Director John J. Moloney pointed out that address report forms are available at any Post Office or Immigration Service Office, and business centers for the convenience of non-citizens required to report addresses each January and urged all persons subject to this law to file Form I-43 as soon as possible before the January 31 deadline to avoid serious penalties.

UNited Nations

The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, better known as the World Bank, has loan commitments to states totaling $49 million for road construction and improvement forming part of the Jordan-Yemen Development for the Development of the Jordan Carea.

According to information from bank officials, the loan will cover the purchase of all materials and services required for the construction of the 90 miles of road.

The project, estimated to cost $14 million in total, will involve the construction of a 140 mile road. The 40 miles of road will be completed within the following years, and the remaining 660 miles of roads and preparation for construction of a further 2,600 miles.

One of the new highways reportedly will provide an all-weather link between Jordan and the Palestinian and the Atlantic Ocean port of Aqaba, passing through a commercial region of great economic importance.

The development of the road will be connected with the development of the Jordan and the Atlantic Ocean port of Aqaba, passing through a commercial region of great economic importance. The road will link the port of Aqaba with the Jordan Valley region of the West Bank, giving access to the sea. The road will be 140 miles long, of which 90 miles are to be completed within the following years, and the remaining 500 miles of roads and preparation for construction of a further 2,600 miles within the following years.
