A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

Christmas is a time of remembrance, of commemorations, when it is usual for Christians to take an inventory of the things they have given up during the past year. There has been no asceticism, no self-denial, no mortification. But the joyous Christmas spirit has been evident in countless ways.

As long as December 25, 1958 nearly four decades ago the late Marcus Garvey delivered a speech in New York on "Jesus and the Negro," in which he declared: "Let us not forget our prayer that this year, let us not let the Lord Jeeps Christ. We have no sin standing against our name at this present time. We have not been like England, Germany, France, Spain — the Negro has no national sin standing against him. We will not be unsuccessfully humiliated. It is as if they have been to us — we will never be judges in human affairs. Let us, therefore, take experience, take patterns, take lessons. Pass the word on so that what we are about to do, considering it for the good of the race, may be different from the conditions of the past.

Garvey, like many leaders who hold the Old Testament as a means of the tribulations of the people of Israel, insisted on the historical character of the Bible. He was a devout Christian, but he knew that Christianity had not been the only religion that was capable of saving the world. In the phrase of the Talmud, "The book of the living is recorded on the tablets of fire." And the record of the living includes all mankind.

It is hard for Christians to keep their balance in this noisy world, especially when they witness what other nationalities are doing. Of course, Christians are capable of doing, as in Morocco, North Africa, for example, where Hans van Thillo, aged nine, and Fuzzy Simpson, aged eight, were arrested last month and tried for the Lord Jesus Christ. The two boys were found in possession of a Bible and were sentenced to five years in prison. The trial was held in a courthouse in the city of Casablanca. The two boys were found guilty of possessing a Bible and were sentenced to five years in prison.

SIDELINES

by Vin Havila

Amidst all the bustle and commotion, you might find it refreshing to take a moment to relax and enjoy the simple things in life. Perhaps the sound of a gentle breeze rustling the leaves or the soft rustling clothing on the sidelines can help you to clear your mind and appreciate the beauty of the moment. Whether you are taking a break from your daily routine or simply enjoying a quiet moment of solitude, it is important to remember that life is more than just work and stress. So take a deep breath, close your eyes, and allow yourself to be transported to a place where anything is possible. You never know what you might find when you open your eyes again.

DELWARE STATE

NIPS TOUGH FOR IN LAST MINUTE

Trailing with 44 seconds remaining in the game, Cliff Noble dished the field goal to lead Delaware State 64-59 over favored Maryland State last night.

ED Jones paced the winners of the one-three game with 26 points, while Strong scored 20 points from the bench.

The Hornet pointed to a last-ditch holler but the Terps' gunned guard Bill Moore, who had 22, led the charge to overtake Noble's vital shot against Delaware State 58-58.
