Credit Union Bandit Suspects Nabbed

MRS. LILLIAN MYERS ROBINSON, St. Elizabth Ave., Roxbury, has announced her intention to run as a sticker candidate for the Republican nomination for state representative from Ward 17. A teacher in the public schools, Mrs. Robinson is also manager of the Park Dale Real Home for the Aged. She is a graduate of A&M University and has done further study at Columbia and Boston Universities. For two years she was employed by the U.S. Department of State Foreign Service in New Delhi, India. She also made two extended trips to Africa, Kenya, Uganda, Tanganika, Nyasaland, Mozambique, Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, Belgian Congo, French Equatorial Africa, Nigeria, Ghana, Liberia, Sierra Leone, and French West Africa. Mrs. Robinson, who is intensely concerned about the general deterioration of the country, states that her primary aim is "to make Roxbury a better community in which to live."

FORWARD 12

For press time Roxbury Crossing police had arrested three suspects on the August 19 holding of the Boston Progressive Credit Union, 1079 Tremont St. The robbery occurred on Tuesday morning at 11:00 clock, when two armed men entered and scrambled up the money, leaving after threatening 25 women employees with death, if they resisted. Less than an hour afterwards police spotted a car with the registration number which the victims had given, and arrested a 21 year old Tremont St. man, who led police to the two other suspects.

Police said that they found in the car a silk stocking mask and a bandanna twisted around one of the bandits.

According to police, the first two suspects admitted their complicity. One said that he drove to the credit union, and the other picked up the car, also-confessed. Both are 21 years old.

Senators Uphold Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—The long term prospects of school integration gained a forward impetus last Wednesday when the U.S. Senate, by a 49 to 41 roll call vote, tabled the Bettner-Jenner amendment to curb the review powers of the Supreme Court. The two Bay State Senators, John F. Kennedy (D) and Leverett (R) as well as the two Rhode Island Senators Theodore F. Green (D) and John P. O'Leary (R) voted for the motion to table.

As soon as the Jenner-Bettner amendment was defeated, Senator Paul H. Douglas (Illinois D) moved that Congress declare "full support and approval of recent decisions and judgments of the Supreme Court, recognizing racial segregation in the public schools as unconstitutional."

He declared that his motion was not designed to bring to the real issue, since various and sundry bills offered to diminish the effects of other Supreme Court decisions were only smoke screens.

Thursday night, by a 41 to 40 vote, the Senate rejected a pack of legislation aimed at the Supreme Court, which presumes to come up again next session, since it is in the hands of the Judiciary Committee, whose chairman is Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi. Adjournment Effective on Little Rock

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mr. Eisenhower, special counsel for the NAACP, stated Thursday that his organization would appeal to the Supreme Court Friday to overrule the stay granted to the Little Rock board, by the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, which means that Central High School will open September 2 as scheduled.
The President's Speech

Gerald W. Johnson, himself a liberal southerner, has consistently stressed the most repugnant truth about Little Rock and Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas.

In the August 18 issue of THE NEW REPUBLIC Mr. Johnson calls for much-needed missionary to the nighted majority in Arkansas: "Whatever happened to what happened at Little Rock but by what did not happen... What did not happen was an overwhelming popu'ar condemnation of the course of Governor Faubus.

On the contrary, Faubus gained a victory in the way that Lincoln embodied to prevent himself from the foremost-speak man of Disraelian react in defense of the fundamental law of the land, and, throw down the cross to the President after the final decision of the Eight: U. S. Court of Appeals. A month has yet to take Judge Harry J. Lemly's ruling which suspended integration at Central High School for a "cooling off period."

To add insult to injury Governor Faubus contemporaneously referred to the Chief Executive of the nation as an invader of the name of the Constitution and the once-magic name of Eisenhower. The President had merely stated the truth. In his Wednesday press conference, about the "apparent demand that all Americans have to comply with the 21st century's order of the disinvited Faubus: "Neither should we slight the fact that the maintenance of order and the responsibility of the court are the responsibilities of each state."

The President's remark: to be followed by an executive order by the Arkansas National Guard, provoking under the command of a regular army officer... We should urge him to issue that order.

She Was Bound to Succeed

We congratulate the champions and winners, but God has given each of us the power to make the most of his or her life in terms of love, service, devotion, and work. That wise counselor, Dean Howard Thurman of Boston University, has written: "It is quite possible to achieve everything and everybody alone for one's predicament (frustration due to lack of achievement) Such a person reflects defeat in all or her social behavior, never smiling or praising anybody and begrudging even the slightest success attained by others. She has set themselves unrealizable goals. They ought to profit from Miss Althea Gibson's article: 'I Wanted to Be Somebody," in the August 23 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The more dissatisfactions the more disadvantages the less great tennis champion who grew up in the Harlem slums. Her determination has carried her to mastery of a major sport and her proficiency has quite literally enabled her to "walk with kings," in the words of Scripture. Her story ought to be read by all our password: "Propy.

An Open Letter

Because of rumors circulating among the members of the Boston Branch of the NAACP of questions of the National Convention of the National Association of Colored People, the Board of Directors held a special meeting on August 15, 1958, at their annual convention appointment at Cleveland, Ohio, on August 23, 1958, and was attended by 1,000 delegates.

The board has found that this convention of the National is only a Union, and as such will continue to support the interests of the National.

Muriel Sinclair, president, and Claude Armand, director, and our many friends for your support. Our motto: Let God Be Judged and the People Decide.

Simon Broderick, a Liberian student, became acquainted with Mrs. Eleanor G. Chandler of 358 Concord Ave., Cambridge, at the Liberian Independence Day celebration July 26 in Washington at the residence of Ambassador George A. Padmore. Now he studies business administration at Boston University for three years, Mr. Broderick was introduced to Mrs. Chandler and to Mrs. Estella L. Crosby, 11 Greenwich pl., Boston, whose home he is domiciled.

Mr. Broderick gives interesting information about Liberia from his coming in 1920 up to the present. During the year of independence, the West African republic has made exceptional strides during the last fifteen years under the leadership of President Washington Tubman.

Congressman Edward F. Boland of Springfield has urged the election of City Councilman Edward J. McCormack, Jr., official Democratic candidate for Attorney General, whom political observers predict will win the September 9 primary.

Mr. McCormack is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and of the Boston University Law School. He excelled in his studies at both institutions. He is in his third successive term as a City Councillor.

Robert B. Russell received his trophies from the hands of Elmer O. Nelson, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, at William E. Carter Playground last Sunday afternoon, for a reason which had nothing to do with politics. Mr. Nelson had played with the Blackstone Valley League of Milford County against our Bob's old team, the Boston Tigers. Standing a foot and a half high, the trophy depicts a pitcher, and its inscription reads: "To Robert B. Russell for outstanding contributions from 1914 to 1958 to New England's Negro baseball."
The Champion's Victory
At Los Angeles Monday, Aug. 16, Floyd Patterson won after a fashion, retaining his title as heavyweight boxing champion of the world. At least he carries that name, and we must at least implicitly accept it or deny it.

Patterson was picked out to be used as the guinea pig for the out- fit that handles him. In other words, that bunch is only trying to put the IBC out of business. We all know that the boxing business is "dog-eat-dog," but doing this is not helping Patterson.

The so-called champion is in a poor drawing card because he is not fighting the best men in the heavyweight class (it is not altogether his fault), it is just bad management of the handker.

Defends Title
Friends, I can remember when a champion defended his title only once a year but went touring in the country in exhibition fights, making appearances in theatres, amassing money, and making themselves a drawing card. However, Patterson is not fighting amateurs, boys and stumbler, ruining his reputation as a world champion, and not making any money. He should be ashamed in these modern times. He is put to bed behind the eight ball. There should be a law against such a thing, since a fighter's business is fighting.

BROWN CAPTURES
N. E. MILE FROM BARRY ALLISON

Sgt. Jackson Brown belted his shank's out to the canvas in the 10th stanza to gain a split decision win over defending New England, marlboro champion Barry Allison at Norwood Arena recently taking the reign over before a scant crowd.

It was a bracing contest with each fighter pouring out work from the start, contrary to their usual reputed slow beginnings. Bob remained undaunted throughout the fray until the 12th when Brown, who entered as the underdog, scored solidly with his left and right hand fighting.

The hard right to the head sent Allison to the floor for the count, and Brown's furry kept the slinger in his way till thrilling the fans with his exciting offensive and defensive plays. Bob was on the floor 34 and Walker was run out for 30, with the points paying off 160 to 110 and Rudder 10 10 out. When the game ended, the Boston, and New York, this time 113 runs scored 113 runs.

After the visitors had showered and changed, they were taken to the Dunbar club where they were invited and dined.

U.S.A. will meet Hartford Sunday August 17 at Hartford in a game that will decide the Mass. League champion.
