Fugitive From Dixie 'Justice' Returned

KENYA REHABILITATES after Mau Mau Uprisings — The Kenya Government with headquarters in the capital at Nairobi, has undertaken a great nationwide program of rural and urban development, said to be without parallel in that country's history. Various tribes have been moved to new sites of their own choosing, housed in modern dwellings and given acreage for cultivation that brings them a profitable income. Rice and coffee production has been increased, native police have been promoted to the rank of chief constable. Kenya youths are being trained for the Royal Air Force and other advances noted, all of them made possible by the virtual end of Mau Mau terrorism in the Province. Photo layout shows various stages of a huge housing development at Wangari, in the Kiambu district

Worthy Refused

NEW YORK — The American Civil Liberties Union disclosed today that Secretary of State Dulles finally had rejected the passport application of Boston-born newsmen, William Worthy, Jr. The civil liberties group said that a suit to regain the passport promptly will be filed in the Federal District Court charging that the Secretary's action violates the right of freedom of movement and infringes on freedom of the press.

ACLU executive director Patrick Murphy Malin released the text of a letter from Dulles to Worthy's ACLU-appointed attorney, William Kunstler of New York City, upholding the Board of Passport Appeals' decision not to renew the Baltimore Afro-American reporter's passport. Mr. Worthy had visited Communist China and Hungary in 1956 despite a State Department ban on travel to those countries.

W. C. HANDY, 84, composer of the 'St. Louis Blues,' passed on March 28, in Sydenham Hospital, New York City. During the latter part of his life, Mr. Handy was blind, and three years ago a stroke confined him to a wheel chair. He became wealthy from royalties for 'St. Louis Blues,' smash song hit of the twenties, netting him an annual income of $25,000. At the time of his death he was a resident of Yonkers, N. Y. Robinson Wins

In Chicago on March 25 Sugar Ray Robinson on a scale took the middle-weight championship of the world. Ray holds the first mortgage on the middle-weight title, and runs it with an iron hand. Sugar lends his title out and takes it back when he feels like it with big interest. He has taken boxing as a business, and he knows the business end of his trade well. Moreover, he knows his trade.

Basilio Borrows Title Basilio Borrows Title Basilio Borrows Title Basilio Borrows Title Basilio Borrows Title

Carmen Basilio, a good take-and-give little fighter, always gives plenty of action in every fight that I have seen him in. He is a tough man to handle, but Ray knows a little too much for him in other words.

Ray is too much for the average newcomer of today. The only man who will beat Mr. Robinson will be Mr. Time. We know that Mr. Time is moving along fast, but his opponents are progressing very slowly.

Basilio took a bad beating in his fifteen rounds of fighting. He was a sad-looking sight, but both men made a good pay night. That is what the boys were looking for. Carmen wants another pay night with Robinson. If Ray gives it to him it will be another bad beating in store for him. How many more beatings like the two which he received from Sugar Ray can he stand? That is the question which he must think on and answer for

Alkins Winner Also

Looking over the poor crop of fighters I can see that Virgil Alkins is the welterweight champion of the world. Every one who is interested in real sport of boxing, regardless of feeling, will agree with me on that fact, because the writing is plainly to be seen on the wall.

Alkins TRO's Issue Logart. Alkins is a very cool and clever puncher, and a very good boxer. There is no one in sight now who can beat him on the level. He is, no doubt, the welterweight champion, and the only threat to Robinson, middleweight title, believe it or not.

Tickets for the Association of New England Bowling Leagues, may be obtained from either of the Bowling Presidents. We are part of E. FUGITIVE FROM DIXIE

(Continued from Page 1) After having escaped from South Carolina, Ramsey is wanted also in Georgia, where he allegedly received a death sentence for robbery with violence. He is said to have fled from Georgia while his death sentence was under appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Split Verdict Gives Sugar Title

Sugar Ray Robinson once more floated with the odds set up by speculators and pessimists as he headed out a split decision over rugged Carmen Basilio to regain the middleweight championship for the fifth time in his colorful career.

Key factor in Robinson's victory was the snaking left hand jab that closed the champion's eye completely before a third of the route was completed. It was from the fifth stanza that Sugar Ray punished Basilio's optic thus battering the effectiveness of the defending titleholder.

The durable Basilio took immediate charge of the fracas as he pursued his challenger through the first four rounds. Robinson countered, slashed out his jabs and hooks in return. Late in the fourth frame Basilio opened a small cut above Robinson's eye, but it was not troublesome.

The colorful New Yorker, who had the reputation of never being defeated twice by the same opponent, aimed most of his artillery at the head and face. A booming left hand to the eye in the fifth finally started his march back to the throne. Basilio's eye began to puff, and Robinson concentrated on the area until it was closed as tight as a bank vault.

Basilio lost his effectiveness for the next three rounds as Ray stepped up his pace. But the former union farmer came stalking back at the fourth mark to

Going into the wire both fighters displayed great stamina but Robinson's old class appeared at his best. He bombed away at Basilio, staggered him, and caught him almost at will, but the latter dug in and survived the round.

In the voting the two judges favored Robinson while the referee chose Basilio by a one point edge.

O'Banyoun's Observations

Last Sunday morning, at St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Cambridge, Pastor C.B. Barrow rose to new heights as he spoke on "Highest Christian Aspirations," based on Philippians 4:8. One point made was the ability of Christians to sacrifice and conquer temptations for the fresh during Lent, and going right back to the same indulgence immediately after Easter.

Musical background for the service was furnished by the senior choir. The Pastor has, hanging from his watch chain, a small key, recently received from Harvard University as a result of his studies and association with the Theological Union of that institution.
