GUEST OF UNITED STATES INSULTED
Maroon of Kingston, Jamaica, Refused Service
Louisville, Ky. — Mrs. Iris King, mayor of Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Federation, received a bitter taste of American courtesy, when she was refused service in a drug store here. She was curtly informed: "We don't serve niggers." Mrs. K. .. who is visiting the United States as a poet of the State Department, said she was "insulted." The incident was the result of a petition this week. The three players were lodged away from their white teammates.

Mr. Brown told reporters, "I don't care if we come back down there. I know one thing; I'll never do anything to embarrass my players.

United Nations
By Samuel P. Perry
Marion Anderson, opera singer, arrived here this week and from the opera house. At the meeting of the Fourth (Trusteeship) Committee of the UN General Assembly, The issue before the committee was the political fate of Africums in the British and African territories, and the French Camerun. In the light of the official developmental of the African countries, delegates of the United Nations and the Latin-American countries voted against postponement of a discussion.

However, the U. S. Delegation reported that instructions had been issued to vote against two resolutions and postpone further discussion until closed meetings are held.

Miss Anderson followed the instructions and voted against the resolutions. However, in view of private private agreements reached with her by other delegations, Miss Anderson interceded in the formal speech with the words: "There is no one in this room who is more dejected in the people whose fate we are trying to determine than I. Like many of the representatives, I am a member of an instructed delegation and we are here to carry out what is wanted."

Branniss University's varsity basketball squad, now under the baton of 21-year-old Rudy Findem-son, last year's star who is presently the youngest captain of a varsity coach in the nation, opens its 19-game slate against Suffolk University on December 3.

Among veteran players returning to the fold will be center Bob Cooper, who has over- come the handicap of a broken hand in his injury by use of a special corset. A junior, Frazier will be vying for starting spot at center.

SIDE GLANCES

By Vin Hayes

By this time, the street outside the English - Latia's Thanksgiving classic will be on or but one thing is certain it will have been a tremendous game. Rounding out picks, particularly, because they are still schedules before Thursday's meeting, both teams named. En-rolled Rochester 26-4. On the other hand, Latia came from be- hind to top Tech 25-18. And Rochester left the lips marks because Tech's tiny stars wound up on the injured list.

Link Chandler, who has been sharing a lot of the limelight with the other Backack of the starting squad, Dick Arendt, turned in the thriller, when he avowed 74 years to scale on a point return.

Faces Dog Dawg

A touch of history, father and son, Crusaders, came along with the final game for Memorial last Tuesday. Nearly thirty years ago Harold Hester, Sr., cap- tained the first Rochester Memorial football team. In Memorial's final grid appearance, Harold, Jr., captured the football squad.

Do you have noticed how pro bas- ketball scoring has soared? Well, to find out, read this score in the current issue of SPORT Magazine. In the last 57-58 season averaged over 100 points per game for the first time in the history of basketball. The Boston Celtics who set the record team for scoring at a record 155 points in the second half were the former Boston mark season with 1081. New York 1121.

Women In Bowling

The second place Meteors and Pins put on one of the most ex- citing exhibitions of the current season. The first string ended in a tie and from them the scores were so close that it was anybody's game right up until the last ball was bowled. Both teams went on the theory that all is not lost until then. Wanda Walters was the gun free the Pins. It was mainly because of her fine bowling that the Pins were able to get a split. A few seasons ago, one would express surprise if the Women but two points to a team who didn't have a chance. "Those days a long since gone."
