ATTACKS BILL SPONSOR DENT

Rep. Costello Dies Suddenly

One of the last acts of Rep. Tim othy J. Costello of Ward 9 before he died on June 23 was to file a complaint with the Boston Police Department on Monday while his car was parked near the State House. By then he had been suffering from a series of minor health problems that included high blood pressure, diabetes, and heart disease.

The bill in question is a proposal to authorize the Secretary of the State to issue licenses for the sale of liquor by the bottle. "This is a serious matter,"
Mr. Costello said before the hearing.

Among those who plan to graduate are the daughters of Dr. William Woodrow. Girls predominant in the graduating class of the girls' school.

"Certainly graduates from the whole school," said the Reverend Mr. Fuller.

IMPRESSIONS

CONGRATULATIONS!
The Chronicle extends to the local authorities of Colleges, Universities, and other educational institutions, congratulations and best wishes for their success in the promotion of the cause of education, something for the teaching and extension of knowledge for the benefit of all. We are told that the above two institutions are both established with a view to the instruction of their pupils in the highest degree of learning, and that they are now engaged in the pursuit of their respective objects. We are thus enabled to congratulate them on the success that is certain to attend their labors.

May the union of this society, filled with enthusiasm and zeal, and with a determination to do the best they can, and with a determination to do nothing less than their best, result in the establishment of schools and colleges in the far North winters, for the benefit of the people of the country.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?
Don't forget to register before the 10th of April, the date when registration will be closed. If you have not registered, do not delay any longer. Register now, before it is too late.

I hope you have wondered why the good A. M. E. Zion bishop did not stop at any of the churches which will send a service on the occasion of the celebration.

A LITTLE TROUBLE

The question for the Negro to answer is whether the white man is right or wrong. We urge that he should answer it in such a way that he will be right. The question for the white man to answer is whether the Negro is right or wrong. We urge that he should answer it in such a way that he will be right.

The little trouble which is being caused by the division of the two races is being only a little trouble. We hope that it will be a little trouble.

The Negro is very much in the minority in this country, but he is very much in the majority of the world. We hope that he will be very much in the majority of the world.

POLITICALLY, we support men and measures, NOT PARTY

I want to see the time come when black men will regard themselves as full participants in the benefits and duties of American citizenship; when they will not be content with a foreign relation in the domestic and foreign relations of their country. They must learn to understand what American citizenship is and what it means.

RANDO'S NOTES

By ABBY RANDO

HOVER AT HOWARD

President Herbert Hoover delivered the 335 graduates of Howard University at the Constitution Hall here today. This was not only his first appearance on the Howard platform, but an important and possibly a decisive factor in the political situation of the day. Indeed. Mr. Hoover was in the presence of an audience that included a number of prominent citizens of Howard University. It is an important and possibly a decisive factor in the political situation of the day.

I am so inclined as an attitude of mind that I believe it is in his power to prevent another war while he is in office. His power is enormous, and it is not only his power that is enormous, but the possibility of preventing another war is enormous.

SOUTHERN ROAD

Sterling A. Brown's new book of poetry, "Southern Road," is out and selling, and a book review is needed. Brown is a poet of the South, and his poetry is full of the elements that define the South. He is a poet of the land, the people, and the culture. His poems are a celebration of the beauty and the history of the South. He is a poet of the past, and his poems are a reminder of the lessons that we must learn from the past.

In his new book, Brown has crafted a series of poems that are a testament to the power of poetry. He has created a series of poems that are a celebration of the beauty and the history of the South. His poems are a reminder of the lessons that we must learn from the past.
