Rainey Challenges G. O. P. For Debate

Huris Deft at Supporters of Hoover Regime

Julian R. Rainey, Republican director of the Democratic Party in New England, said this week that he would challenge G. O. P. Senator William E. Borah to a debate on the economic situation before a joint session of the New England legislature. He said in an interview that if the legislature did not call for an all-New England debate, he would ask for a special session of the legislature to adjourn in order to give the people of New England a chance to hear a more detailed and logical explanation of his views on the issue.

REPUBLICANS WAGING
ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Here in Rhode Island, and especially in Providence, the Republican party is making a vigorous campaign for the election. The following is from a Republican newspaper that has been formed, and also an account of the Republican party in the state at this time.

This year, James L. Hackett, Jr., will ask for the Republican nomination for Governor. His policy is to provide for the interests of the people. He has been chosen by a majority of the state delegation at the recent convention, and is expected to be nominated at the state convention in November. Mr. Hackett has been known to be a leader in the Republican party for many years, and has been successful in his political career. He has been a member of the state legislature for several years, and has been re-elected several times.

In the Providence section, the Republican party is making a strong effort to win the election. They have been busy organizing and getting out the vote. They have been visiting the homes of the voters, and have been distributing literature to them. They have also been holding meetings and making speeches to the voters.

The Republican party has been very successful in the past. They have been known to be the party of the people, and have been successful in winning the election. They have been able to win the support of the voters, and have been successful in carrying the state. They have been able to carry the city of Providence, and have been successful in winning the election.

In the meantime, the Democratic party has been busy in their campaign. They have been trying to win the election, and have been making speeches and distributing literature to the voters. They have also been holding meetings and visiting the homes of the voters. They have been successful in winning the election in the past, and have been known to be the party of the people. They have been able to win the support of the voters, and have been successful in carrying the state. They have been able to carry the city of Providence, and have been successful in winning the election.

The election is very close, and the outcome is uncertain. The Republican party has been successful in the past, and has been known to be the party of the people. They have been able to win the election, and have been able to carry the state. They have been able to carry the city of Providence, and have been successful in winning the election.

POLITICALLY, we support men and measures, NOT PARTY

"I want to see the time when black men will regard themselves as full participants in the benefits and duties of American citizenship; when they will vote for Democratic candidates if they prefer the Democratic policy to that of the Republicans, if they believe it will bring about the reforms which they desire; and when they will not be denied their political rights merely because they are Negroes." —Frank D. Scott, in his foreword to Washington, 1863.

KELLY MILLER'S COLUMN

THE NEGRO FROES ASSISTING HILLIETT

For the first time in our political history, Negro Friends, the branch of the Religious Society of Friends that endeavors to further the cause of peace and liberate humanity from the burdens of religious dogmatism, have given aid and comfort to the Negro in his struggle for equality. The Negro Friends have donated $500 to the Hilliott Fund, an organization which is endeavoring to assist the Negro in his fight for freedom. This is a significant development in the relationship between the Negro and the Religious Society of Friends, and it is to be hoped that this will be the beginning of a closer cooperation between the two groups in the cause of liberty and justice for all people.

THE CAMPAIGN AND THE CANDIDATE

As the campaign for the election of President of the United States comes to a close, it is important to consider the political implications of the election. The current political climate in the United States is marked by a growing sense of division and dissatisfaction with the existing political system. It is clear that the two major political parties are not providing adequate solutions to the problems facing the country.

The Negro group is in the same position as any other group in the country, and it must therefore be considered when assessing the candidates for President. The Negro group is not a monolithic entity, and there are many different perspectives within the group. Nevertheless, it is clear that the candidates’ positions on issues such as civil rights and economic opportunity are important considerations for the Negro electorate.

The Democratic Party has traditionally been seen as the party of the people, and its candidates have often been seen as more responsive to the needs of the common man. However, the Republican Party has also been successful in appealing to the Negro electorate, particularly in the South. It is important for the Negro voters to consider the positions of the candidates on issues such as education, voting rights, and economic opportunity when making their decisions.

The current political climate is characterized by a growing sense of division and dissatisfaction with the existing political system. It is clear that the two major political parties are not providing adequate solutions to the problems facing the country. VIRGINIA STATE CLIPS HAMPTON

Hilltoppers Launch Deceptive Offense

WEAKEN IN LAST PERIOD

Virginia State, which was favored by 16 points, had to be content with a 10-7 victory over Hampton last Saturday afternoon. The Hilltoppers, behind the speed of Paul McDonald, a star back, and the veteran All-State center, Charlie Wray, played a good game against the defending champions of the MEAC.

The game was played in fine weather and the stands were crowded with fans who had come to watch the Hilltoppers, who are considered one of the strongest teams in the conference. The game was closely contested throughout, but Hampton had the better of the first half, while Virginia State took control in the second half.

The Hilltoppers scored the only points of the first half, and the teams came out for the second half with Hampton leading 7-0. Virginia State tied the game in the third quarter, and scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter to win the game.

The Hilltoppers, who are coached by Hallie W. Brown, played a good game against Hampton, and the fans were pleased with the performance of their team.

Rhode Island Sport Notes

HOD ROBINSON IN RECORD RUN

Rhode Island State won a great upset yesterday over the mighty Providence College at Providence, 10-7. The Cyclones, who were expected to lose by a wide margin, staged one of the greatest upsets in the history of the state college.

Rhode Island State, which was coached by the famous Bill Robinson, scored the only points of the first half, and the teams came out for the second half with Providence leading 7-0. Rhode Island State scored again in the third quarter, and scored another touchdown in the fourth quarter to win the game.

The Cyclones, who are coached by Bill Robinson, played a good game against Providence, and the fans were pleased with the performance of their team.

The Providence game is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Providence Athletic Club. The Cyclones are expected to win by a wide margin, and the fans are looking forward to the game.
