Students try to get grants for Suffolk

In an effort to get grants for Suffolk, students are trying to get the Beacon chosen as "The Book of the Year." This year, Suffolk is one of the most highly cited in the nation. The Beacon has been chosen as the "Book of the Year" for the first time in its history. This is a great honor for the student body, and it is hoped that this will help us in our efforts to get grants for Suffolk.

Curriculum Committee lacks student representation

The Curriculum Committee is lacking student representation. They have not been involved in the decision-making process, and this is a great concern. It is important that students have a voice in the decision-making process, and we hope that this will be addressed in the future.

Stolen books cause price jumps

By Rob Coleman

Higher book prices are being seen on campus as the SGA has taken a stand against piracy.

"For some reason, it has become more common to steal books," said Jeanne Brandt, the SGA's president. "We have to find a solution to this issue." The SGA plans on implementing a new system that will track the library's books. "We want to make sure that people are not stealing books," said Brandt. "We want to make sure that the books are available for everyone." The new system will be implemented in the fall and will be monitored by the SGA. "We want to make sure that people are not getting away with stealing," said Brandt. "We want to make sure that the book is available for everyone."

SGA pushes for jukebox in cat; WSFR radio broadcasting criticized

in James F. Doolittle

SGA members are pushing for the installation of a jukebox in the student lounge, a popular study area on the first floor of the Student Union. The current lounge lacks an entertainment option, which can be a deterrent for students. The jukebox would provide a relaxed atmosphere and encourage social interaction.

WSFR, the campus radio station, has been criticized for its programming. Listeners have expressed dissatisfaction with the content and style of shows. SGA members are calling for a review of the station's programming to ensure it meets the diverse needs of the student body.

Sorting the Beacon Hill parking mess

By Ken Kall

The parking space in front of the Beacon Hill Post Office was at a premium the other day.

Two men were sitting in a car outside the post office and one of them was smoking a cigar.

Poet reflects native life

In Delaware, Mexico

Woods

The poet and artist, John Woods, reflects on the native life of his home country, Mexico, in his latest work. His poetry explores the rich cultural heritage and natural beauty of his homeland, capturing the essence of his native life.

SU may recruit Spanish students

In Mexico

Woods

The University of Southern California (USC) is considering recruiting Spanish-speaking students from Mexico. This move is aimed at enhancing cultural diversity and providing educational opportunities for students from different backgrounds. The university is exploring partnerships with Mexican universities to facilitate this recruitment process.

Officers attend rape clinic

In Mexico

Woods

The local police officers have attended a rape clinic to improve their understanding and handling of sexual assault cases. The clinic provides training on the psychological aspects of rape and helps officers approach such cases with empathy and sensitivity.

The journalist and writer, John Woods, has written extensively about Mexico and its culture. His work often delves into the country's historical and cultural heritage, offering insights into the lives of its people. His latest work, a poem reflecting on native life, showcases his continued exploration of Mexico's rich tapestry. The university's interest in recruiting Spanish students highlights the importance of diversity in education, while the officers' attendance at the rape clinic underscores the need for improved training in handling such sensitive cases.
