Board may revise scholarship stance

by Rich Players

After almost two hours of deliberation, the Board of Trustees Scholarship Committee reaffirmed the current policy of awarding only study scholarships, but will consider revisions to the board's stance next year, according to committee members.

The board also voted to allocate $15,000 for the 1979-80 academic year, as well as increasing the "proposed" amount of $15,000 to $20,000 for the following year.

Committee weights 2 curriculum plans

by Ann St. John

The Curriculum Committee at the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLA) is examining two proposals which will help establish undergraduate requirements.

However, the committee's final report is due in the spring, and there are no definite conclusions on the curriculum's future.

'Spare the soap, thank you'

by Margaret Norton

The soap opera has been around for almost two years, but the college is considering ending the program due to the lack of audience interest.

The decision will be made after the committee receives the final report, which is due in the spring.

Fulham, Fulmer differ on President's role

by Lucien Pomella

Fulham, President of the Student Government Association, and Fulmer, President of the Board of Trustees, are at odds over the President's role.

Fulham, however, is the only student member of the Board of Trustees. According to Article IV of the By-Laws of the University, the President of the Student Government Association holds the position of a Trustee at the discretion of the President of the Board of Trustees.

Ronayne, McDowell call for increase in expense accounts

by Bob Baker

Ronayne and McDowell, members of the Faculty Senate, have called for an increase in expense accounts.

Ronayne said that the Faculty Senate is concerned about the financial situation of the University. He noted that the University has a large number of expenses and that the Faculty Senate is concerned about the University's ability to meet these expenses.

SGA almost cancels 'Angels'

by Lucien Pomella

The Student Government Association (SGA) was almost forced to cancel its annual charity dance, 'Angels.' The SGA, however, decided to proceed with the dance after a successful fundraising campaign.

The SGA's fundraising campaign was led by President Thomas J. Fulmer, who personally oversaw the campaign. The campaign was successful, and the SGA was able to raise the necessary funds to cover the costs of the dance.

'The Angels' dance is a major fundraiser for the University, and it is important that we are able to hold it,' said Fulmer. 'I am proud of the SGA for its efforts in raising the funds.'
Council puts 3 on Judiciary Board

By Darwin Larkfort

The House Judiciary Committee has been appointed to conduct an inquiry into the operations of the Council's Judiciary Board.

The committee, chaired by Representative John Smith, will investigate allegations of misconduct and impropriety on the part of the Council's Judiciary Board.

Smith said the committee will hear testimony from former members of the Board and will review documents and materials related to the Board's operations.

The committee's findings will be presented to the full Council for consideration.

The Judiciary Board was formed in 1972 to oversee the Council's finances and investments.

Members of the Board are appointed by the Council's Executive Committee and serve three-year terms.

The Board is responsible for the investment and management of the Council's assets.

The appointment of the new Board members will be announced at a later date.

Rathskellar scuffle causes earlier Thanksgiving vacation

By Maggie Norton

A fight erupted during the coming weekend after Rathskeller patrons attempted to protest a lack of seating, according to police reports.

The fight occurred at 4:30 p.m. in the Rathskeller, according to the police report.

The area was vacated in the fight and was cleared by the authorities.

A report of the incident was filed by Campus Safety, according to the police report.

An investigation has been conducted and the incident is under review.

Work permits for foreign students?

By Janet Clampham

Foreign students are being prevented from working in the state by a new state law that requires work permits for foreign students.

The law states that foreign students cannot work more than 20 hours per week, and that work permits are required for any work beyond that.

The law was enacted to address concerns about the impact of foreign students on the labor market and to ensure that foreign students are not taking jobs away from American students.

Proposed curriculum plans to be discussed

Admissions Director William Collinge addressed the meeting and advised the students that the proposed curriculum plans would be discussed further in the next meeting.

Collinge also mentioned that the proposed curriculum plans were based on feedback from students and faculty.

He also stated that the plans would be reviewed and discussed in more detail at the next meeting.

Comics not all laughs for serious collectors

by John Sullivan

"For serious collectors, comics are more than just a matter of simple amusement. They are an investment in the future, a way to preserve the history of our culture." -- John Sullivan

The field of comic book collecting is a popular one, and for good reason. The art and stories that emerged from comic books have had a profound impact on American culture. From Superman to Spider-Man, these stories have captured the imagination of generations, and for many, the allure of owning a piece of this pop culture history is just too strong.

For some collectors, the thrill of the chase is the most compelling aspect of the hobby. They search for rare and valuable comics, hoping to strike it rich with a once-in-a-lifetime find. Others are drawn to the art of the medium itself, admiring the craftsmanship of the artists and the creativity of the writers. Still others are drawn to the sense of community that comes with sharing their passion with others who share the same interests.

But comics are not just for collectors. They are enjoyed by everyone, from children to adults. The stories are entertaining, the artwork is beautiful, and the lessons they teach are valuable. Whether you are a casual reader or a hardcore collector, there is something for everyone in the world of comics.

Rub-a-dub-dub Phi Sigma Sigma's traveling in the tub

And so, as the semester comes to a close, many students are looking forward to a well-deserved break. Whether you are planning to take a trip, relax at home, or continue your studies, there is no denying the appeal of a good break. And for those who are looking for something a bit more unusual, there is always the option of a good soak in the tub. After all, what could be more relaxing than a good book and a warm cup of tea?

But as you enjoy your break, remember the importance of balancing work and play. Take time to recharge your batteries, and come back to campus ready to take on the challenges that await you. And when you do, you'll be glad you took the time to enjoy yourself.

And that's the spirit of the weekly break. It's a chance to step back, take a deep breath, and remember what's important. So take a moment to appreciate the moments you've earned, and come back refreshed and ready to tackle whatever comes your way.

By John Sullivan

The weekly break is a chance to take a break from the stresses of everyday life and enjoy a moment of relaxation. Whether you are a student, a worker, or a member of the community, there is something for everyone in this issue. So sit back, relax, and enjoy the break!

Rams victorious in opener, 78-67

By Joe Wilson

The Rams opened out to a quick 14-4 lead in the first period and never gave the Mass. Pharmacy a chance to come back. The Rams scored 48 points in the second and third periods to win 78-67.

Despite some early struggles, the Rams started off well with a 7-0 lead. John Dierck, who scored 14 points, started the game off with a 3-point shot. Matt Miller, who scored 16 points, also scored a 3-point shot, and the Rams led 7-0.

In the second period, the Rams continued to dominate with a 17-4 run. John Dierck scored a 3-point shot, and Matt Miller added 4 points. The Rams led 35-15 at halftime.

In the third period, the Rams scored 21 points to lead 56-15 at the end of the third period. John Dierck scored 10 points, and Matt Miller added 9 points.

In the fourth period, the Rams scored 17 points to win the game. John Dierck scored 8 points, and Matt Miller added 3 points.

Smoothies crack Bones

by Joe Winters

A Thompson company took on the Darwin St. Falcons, and the result was a dramatic surprise. The Falcons scored 20-12 to take the title from a team that had been considered to be one of the closest to the championship. The Falcons played a strong game, and the Thompson team was unable to match its energy and aggression.

The game was a real battle, with both teams showing great determination and fighting spirit. The Falcons had been leading throughout the game, but the Thompson team fought back in the second half and managed to narrow the difference. However, the Falcons held on to their lead and emerged victorious.

Rams' hustle pays off

by Joe Winters

Despite missing several key players, the Rams managed to put up a strong performance and secure the win against the Mustangs. The team showed great toughness and determination, and they were able to outscore their opponents in the second half. The Rams' hard work paid off, and they emerged as the victorious team.

Rams' analysis

The Rams' successful performance in the second half was due to their ability to work together as a team and communicate effectively on the field.
They showed great resilience and adaptability in the face of adversity.

Sportsman of the Week

Suffolk's junior Kevin Moloney is a aggressive in the second half and managed to maintain their lead.

The Falcons' most impressive performance was their ability to manage the game effectively and control the tempo. They were able to score several points and keep the Rams at bay.

The Rams' performance was

Rams' basketball: '78-'79
Without Ryan, different offense to play with

by Jim Mertens

The Denver University basketball team finished its 1978-'79 season with a 22-5 mark, second only to Creighton's 24-6 record in the Missouri Valley Conference. But with the graduation of All-America guard Mark Ryan, who scored 1,844 points, the Rams will have to rely on other players to lead the team.

The 6-7 Ryan, who averaged 23 points per game, was a key player for the Rams in their conference games, and his absence will be felt. However, the Rams have a solid nucleus of returning players, including 6-5 guard Mike Mertens, who averaged 12 points per game last year, and 6-4 guard Joe Johnson, who averaged 11 points per game.

The Rams' offense will be centered around center Jim Miller, who averaged 15 points per game last year. Miller will be joined by 6-7 forward Rick Phillips, who averaged 12 points per game, and 6-6 forward Jack Williams, who averaged 10 points per game.

The Rams' defense will be led by 6-7 guard Mike Mertens, who averaged 5.5 rebounds per game last year, and 6-4 guard Joe Johnson, who averaged 4 rebounds per game.

The Rams' coaches are optimistic about the team's future, and they expect the team to improve next year.

Goats young but explosive; could be best team in years

by Ed Carter

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) - The George Mason College of Science and Technology basketball team is expected to be one of the best in the country this season. The team has a young but explosive offense, and it is expected to be a force in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The team, led by 6-7 guard John Smith, who averaged 20 points per game last year, and 6-6 forward Rick Phillips, who averaged 18 points per game, is expected to be a serious contender for the conference championship.

The team's defense will be led by 6-7 guard Mike Mertens, who averaged 6 rebounds per game last year, and 6-4 guard Joe Johnson, who averaged 5 rebounds per game.

The team's coaches are optimistic about the team's future, and they expect the team to improve next year.
