Students drive drunk

by Greg Bauman

Drunk driving is a problem that has become all too common. It is estimated that one person is killed or injured every hour due to alcohol-related accidents. In New York, drunk drivers are responsible for over 40% of all fatalities on the road. The problem is not limited to New York, as drunk driving is a national issue. In 1988, the National Highway Traffic Administration reported that there were 10,000 alcohol-related traffic deaths, and that number has only increased in the years since.

Drunk driving is no joke

As discussed in the last issue, the cost of drunk driving is staggering. The Journal of Problem Behavior and Safety (JPBS) estimates that the cost of drunk driving in the United States is over $130 billion per year. This includes medical costs, property damage, and lost productivity. But the cost is not just financial. Drunk driving is a serious public health issue that affects us all.

Fad Chance—A new cubism

by Judy Whitman

I've been to the Fad Chance cubism exhibition at the Modern Art Museum of America several times, and every time I go, I think, "How can anyone like this stuff?" The paintings are all abstract shapes and colors, and they look like they were done by a computer. It's hard to believe that some people actually enjoy looking at them.

To me, cubism is supposed to be about breaking down traditional forms and creating new ones. But these paintings just seem like they were made by someone who doesn't care about art at all. I mean, who wants to look at a big, blurry blob that doesn't even represent anything?

Maybe I'm missing something, but I just can't get into it. I guess I'm just too stuck in the past when it comes to art. But who knows? Maybe I'll change my mind someday.

Hey Dickie, Bruce & Harvey—Cool It!!

by Tim Grov

I can't believe how they're acting around here. Dickie, Bruce, and Harvey are always getting into trouble. Last week, they were caught painting graffiti on the library walls. That's just not acceptable.

I've also heard rumors that they're planning to break into the student government office and steal some snacks. That's a really bad idea. The student government is there to serve the students, not to be a target for vandalism.

I hope they learn to respect authority and not cause any more problems. It's not good for our school's reputation.

Crowing over—

Emerson—'different'

by Tim Grov

I was reading an article about Emerson and how he was about to make a speech on campus. It's always interesting to hear what he has to say.

I'm not sure what he'll talk about, but I'm sure it will be different from what you'd expect. Emerson is known for his unique perspective and his ability to see beyond the obvious.

I can't wait to hear what he has to say. It's always refreshing to be reminded of the importance of thinking critically and challenging conventional ideas.

Coppola's new film dazzles but lacks brains

by Kevin Costner

The Amateur is a worthwhile thriller

The title role in this film, with its stiff and static action scenes, may be the best role for an actor without a good sense of direction. The film has a number of good performances, but the overall direction seems a bit too rigid and formulaic. The story is about a man who is trying to make a living as a private investigator, and he ends up caught up in a web of lies and deceit. The film is well-crafted, with a strong sense of atmosphere and tension, but it lacks the depth and subtlety of some of Coppola's other works.

by Joseph Mantalbano

It is written by Boozman, who also starred in the film, and directed by Coppola. The story is about a man who is trying to make a living as a private investigator, and he ends up caught up in a web of lies and deceit. The film is well-crafted, with a strong sense of atmosphere and tension, but it lacks the depth and subtlety of some of Coppola's other works.

By Larry Buckley

A little time was spent to look back and take an aluation of the 10-year period. Otherwise, this is a very positive group with a lot of students who remember the "Triumph" people. This is a hard time for me to write this article. The last trip I ever took was in Sawyer 427-429.

Five police officers suspended

By Andrea Michelson

For police officers involved in Suffolk University's police department, a collective bargaining agreement with the city of Boston guarantees retirement benefits for holding a civil service position or after 10 years of teaching or administrative work. The city of Boston's Department of Insurance and Labor Relations announced the suspension of five officers on February 26.
