New College Librarian Sparks Communication

by Brent L. Marmo

Kenneth Kelly, new Director of Student Activities, feels Suffolk's status as a commuter school challenges him to present an extracurricular program that will make students want to stay after hours to participate. A formidable challenge, but not too formidable for a man who includes tactical mountain climbing among his leisure pastimes.

Kelly replaces James O. Peterson, who begins law school this semester. Originally from Pittsfield, Massachusetts, Kelly received his bachelor's degree in economics from Cornell in 1969. After a hitch in the army, he was awarded a master's degree in education, also from Cornell, in the summer of 1973 after which he worked for two years in the student activities area at Boston University. Kelly is married to a third year Harvard Law student.

In the coming year, Kelly sees a lot of potential for growth in WSUB—the campus radio-television station. Last year, the station had no permanent headquarters and operated from a corner hallway on the second floor of the Donahue Building. This year it will be located in the Ridgeway Lane Building at RIO.

An outdoors enthusiast, Kelly said he would be interested in organizing a wilderness trip with the Ski and Outing club. He has done this at BU. Another project that interests him, which he also tried on a limited scale there, is a sort of "free school" program in which students and faculty could get together to organize a mini-course dealing with some new sport or technical activity of interest. He said he might like to try this in the spring semester.

In the classroom, Kelly said that he would like to stay in the field of awhile. "It's not just a stopping point for me," he said.

Welcome.

I offer no snark comment or innuendo about Suffolk University’s faculty, administration or facilities. Such allusions would be counterproductive and serve no other purpose but self-indulgence at this time. At no time will malicious sensationalism or unsupported claims be the policy of this newspaper. However, through thorough and responsible reporting the Journal will bring to your attention all issues facing this University. We will also take definitive stands on all of these issues, either as a staff or as individuals through signed editorials and commentaries. The pages of the Journal are, of course, open to all students to express views through letters and commentaries.

The Suffolk Journal is a student newspaper — a student service. Therefore, twelve pages of news, editorials, reviews, humor and ideas will be wasted if we do not receive student support. Support being nothing more than reading the material, appreciating the fact that it was written to inform you, and responding to those things which need your attention. If we make you angry or happy by what we print or how we print it or simply inform you, then we have begun to do our job.

In return for this support, the Journal will adopt a wide scope. The range of this publication will not be set. As you express interest in a subject, hopefully through a contribution, the Journal will follow up on the suggestion in hopes of finding more and diversified material.

The Suffolk Journal is one of few genuine student services at Suffolk University. Because of this, it simply cannot function effectively without your support and interest. We will work at molding the Journal to fulfill this important role through your support and the support of a large segment of the student body. We will work at informing you and responding to those things which need your attention. If we make you angry or happy by what we print or how we print it or simply tell you something you didn’t know before, then we have begun to do our job.

Dear Suffolk University Student:

On behalf of the Office of Student Activities, we would like to welcome both new and returning students to Suffolk. Your Student Activities Office here at Suffolk is an educational, cultural, and social resource for you and your peers.

It is the belief of this office that an essential portion of true college education lies in experience gained in leadership activities and personal involvement beyond the classroom. The main function of the Office of Student Activities, therefore, is to serve you, the student, in providing opportunities for personal growth through active participation in activities outside of the classroom setting.

As a primarily commuting institution, Suffolk presents a unique activities program geared to meet your needs for social, cultural, and academic exploration, but scheduled so that you can take advantage of these opportunities during the daytime while you are on campus.

Most activities (speakers, organization meetings, etc.) are planned during other daytime or evening hours. Take advantage of the wide variety of programs offered by student groups, your Student Government Association, and this office and feel free to drop by the Office of Student Activities or visit your Student Government Association office next door.

Although we have lost part of our lounge space, the Ridgeway Lounge still exists for your relaxation and entertainment. Drop by to play a game of bumper pool, challenge a friend to a chess game, watch T.V., or just relax for a break between classes. Many student organizations have offices in the Ridgeway Building and all clubs can be contacted through the Student Activities Office.

We are here to help you out. Seek us out. Only through your interest and initiative can you help yourself to the vast opportunities for personal development available to you here at Suffolk University.

Getting Together

“Often times the adjustment from high school to college can be perplexing and difficult. A student is treated like an adult at college and a kid at home,” said Dr. Kenneth Garni, Chairman of the Department of Psychological Services at Suffolk University.

Located in room 28 in the Archer Building, the psychological Services Department offers free counselling for personal and academic development of the Suffolk student. A student’s parents would not be notified if he or she came for help. Dr. Garni stressed very strongly, “There is absolute confidentiality in this office. No one, absolutely no one, has access to our files. Any information is coded, a code known only by us, and it is kept under lock and key.”

“We have weekly staff meetings where cases are discussed, and most times not even by name. My associates, Dr. Joan Macvicar, Dr. Paul Korn, and Dr. Vivian Katsenstein, and myself are very strong on confidentiality. Dr. loan Macvicar, Dr. Garni continued, “This even applies to college students who are minors. A release form can be signed, signifying that certain information can be given to a certain individual.”

The Psychological Services Department, apart from providing free personal counselling, offers guidance in career counselling, has complete vocational interest testing available, and has an extensive library with books and brochures outlining hundreds of professions. There is also considerable material on colleges and graduate schools. Dr. May Mahoney, a reading specialist, provides help to students with reading disabilities.

Recently fully accredited by the International Association of Counselling Services, the department is seeking to expand its range of service beyond its hours of 8:30-4:30 Monday through Friday and until 9 p.m. on Wednesdays. “Someone is always available for emergency counselling. If a student calls the school, the switchboard operator will take his number and contact either myself or one of the other doctors. At 3 a.m., though, there is little we can do. If a student is under care, he may have one of our house phone numbers and can call there.”

Obviously enthusiastic about his department, Dr. Garni continued, “We are now in the process of affiliating ourselves with the College Internation Association of Counselors. The Consulting Services, the department is free and available, paid for out of tuition fees. It is recommended to call first and make appointment, but should anyone just walk in he would not be turned away. This is not the most popular of departments at Suffolk, and Dr. Garni offered this reason. ‘There is still a stigma attached to psychological problems. We’re still thought of as head-shrinkers.’

There is a goer Dr. Garni’s desk that contains the following quote: “The meaning of life is out there somewhere and it’s up to each of us to find it for himself.”

University Appoints Admissions Counselor

Ms. Martha Holmes, the new Admissions Counselor, is eager to meet Suffolk University students. Her job duties consist primarily of counseling incoming freshmen students but also transfer and graduate students.

“I am available to any student who has a problem—in any area,” said Ms. Holmes, “and I will try to help in any way I can.” Her office is located on the first floor of 56 Temple Street.

Ms. Holmes feels that Suffolk University “has an extremely friendly atmosphere” and is surprised by the “diverse student population.” Said Ms. Holmes, “I thought it would be harsh.”

Ms. Holmes, originally from Philadelphia, will spend most of her time recruiting students from high schools and junior colleges primarily in the Rte. 28 area of Massachusetts but also plans to touch on some new areas.

Several areas of expansion are being investigated by Ms. Holmes. First, Ms. Holmes plans to conduct a survey on the need for a day care center at Suffolk University. If the survey indicates a need for day care, Ms. Holmes says she would like to see a student operated center at Suffolk.

Ms. Holmes would also like to see more “follow-up” done on freshmen students. According to Ms. Holmes, the new freshmen need “more attention.” Ms. Holmes would like to act as a liaison between freshmen students and their faculty advisors.

“Credit By Contact” is another possibility being investigated by the new Admissions Counselor. This is a program which enables students to receive credit for previous work experience. Such a program could be especially useful to older students returning to college after prolonged leaves of absence.

Although Ms. Holmes said she is surprised that fall registration is not being done by computer, she feels “Suffolk more than meets the needs of its students. Suffolk makes possible admission for special students.”

“The most important way to get to know the school, is to get to know the students,” said Ms. Holmes, “so feel free to drop in any time.”

What's Going On

by Patty Fantasia

A tentative list of events is being planned by various clubs and organizations for the fall semester.

The Student Government Association's Film Committee is presenting the movie "Ladies and Gentlemen, the Rolling Stones" the last week in September and "Pink Flamingos" in time for Halloween. Other possibilities include "Harold and Maude," "Sahara," "Busting," "Mean Streets," "You're a Big Boy Now," "If," "Images," and a James Dean film. Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam" will be repeated this fall. Suggestions for other movies may be made through the Student Activities Office in care of Pat Mullins.

The SGA is planning a university party to celebrate the beginning of the school year. It is tentatively scheduled for September 25 at Valley's Steak House in Saugus.

Dr. Iole Fang of the Modern Languages Department, in conjunction with her German 1.5 course, will sponsor the visit of German singer Kathe Kollwitz. Also planned are a film, speech, and exhibition of the works of novelist Franz Kafka.

A recital of the music of French composer Claude Debussy is slated for the first week of November. Dr. Fang is also planning a series of twelve films to supplement class material. The films will be open to all students.

The Walter M. Burse Debating Club will conduct a workshop on September 12, 13, and 14 in preparation for its varsity tournament at M.I.T. this fall. Anyone interested in joining the club is urged to contact Dr. Kennedy, Chairman of the Speech Department in room 21 of the Archer Building.

The Suffolk Law Forum will feature a series of 13 speakers during the course of the year on Thursdays at 5:00 p.m. The lectures will be open to the entire student body. The first lecture is scheduled for September 25. The speaker has yet to be announced.

Admiral Robinson, Judge Advocate of the Navy, will discuss on October 9, the effect of recent international law development and its potential impact on American seapower. On October 23 attorney Richard Rubin, a pioneer in defending gay people's rights, will speak in defense of the unpopular minority. Supreme Court Justice Joseph Mitchell will talk about The Lawyer as Judge on November 6 and on November 20 Maryland Congresswoman Marjorie Holt, cosponsor of the Equal Credit for Women bill, will concern her lecture with the role of lawyer as legislator. Refreshments will be served following the lectures and a minimal fee ($0.50 or $1.00) will be charged to help finance the refreshments.

The Forum is looking for people to help run various aspects of the program. Those interested are asked to leave a note for Baker Armstrong-Smith in the Student Bar Association mailbox or call 733-9491.
Athletes Eagerly Await Blue and Gold Season

by Brian Donovan

"The school year comes around this time.

The Suffolk spirit once more will reign.
If you're a rah-rah cheerer of 'Go, Ram, Girl!
Happy days are here again.'"

The school year and the fall. All
The greetings of friends missed over
The summer months, all the
The reminiscences of the fun had at the old school grounds and the excitement Generated in all students at the thought of another year of collegiate athletics.
Not only does the fall bring an Opportunity to meet new girls at the local campus hangout, but it carries with it another chance for the athletes of the school to show their stuff before throngs of faithful, never say die, classmate fans.
Fall gives the image of thousands upon thousands of students all over the nation, not only attending classes, but going to their favorite sporting event and engaging in that All-American pastime of rooting
for the blue and gold of Suffolk University (or wherever the multitudes happen to go).
This season, Suffolk promises at least some excitement for the event-hearted, or those who claim to be interested in the culture of the college, namely the sports program.
The Ram basketball squad, long hallowed as the valhalla of hoop
season of front-page coverage,
horns, comes back for another
final will provide the entire Suffolk
community with such material.
Hopefully, however, the student body will make some effort to recognize the play of members of the golf team, along with the cross-country, tennis, hockey and baseball teams. Maybe it would be a good idea to follow the rugby tradition of having kegs of beer at every game; it might attract some followers.
Of course, the best way to have people show some interest in the school's teams is to give the sports
followers.
Of course, the best way to have
people show some interest in the
school's teams is to give the sports
good coverage. In-depth reports of all the games, features on the players, coaches and assorted connected persons; hopefully, the journal will provide the entire Suffolk
community with such material.
And so, the Ram returns. The proud, haughty Suffolk mascot, actually a Billy goat with plastic
horns, comes back for another
season of front-page coverage,
wild-fire collegiate enthusiasm
and, well, you know the rest.
Those who lost the spirit of Suffolk in last year's playoff express intact,
and here's hoping that the Rams succeed. The starting quintet of guards John Howard and Kevin Clark and forwards Chris Tsiotis, Steve Barrett and Bob Ferrara also have the incentive of winning for their coach, Charlie Law.

The school's Athletic Director has been around here since 1946 and has established himself as one of the really class guys around the campus.
The other sports don't get the publicity that the basketball does but seem to attract as much interest.
A piece of graffiti in one of the new Fenton Building men's rooms suggests that there is more interest in drinking beer and writing on the walls here at Suffolk than any other activity. This could very well be true.

Prospects for the team do look healthy, what with the starting team
being the same for the last year's playoff express intact,
and here's hoping that the Rams succeed.
