The problem of homophobia at Suffolk

By Joseph Mastandrea

Homophobia is the irrational fear of homosexu-als or people of the same sex. It is a phobic condition that affects many people who have been influenced by negative aspects of society. This is due to the fact that people are often afraid of the unknown and fear the unknown. It is believed that people who have been influenced by negative aspects of society may develop a fear of homosexuals or people of the same sex. This fear may lead to phobias, or irrational fears, that affect many people. It is believed that people who have been influenced by negative aspects of society may develop a fear of homosexu-

Starlight dance a success

By Linda Treadwell

Starlight dance was a huge success and a great way to support our community. The dance was held on Friday, September 21st at the gym on campus. The entire night was filled with great music, dancing, and most importantly, helping those in need. The money raised will go towards scholarships for students who are facing financial difficulties. We should all be proud of the community we live in and the great things we can do for each other.

Here's the key of knowledge...

By Sandra Miller

What should your students be learning about the history of our school? It's important for them to understand the origins of the institution they are attending. The history of our school is filled with interesting stories and events that have shaped the institution we know today. It's important for students to learn about the history of our school so they can appreciate the legacy that has been built. Suffolk skaters still sittin' pretty; upset Stonehill 4-3 (OT), down Bentley 5-4 (OT)

by Robert DeCaire

A thankfully cold December afternoon saw the athletes of Suffolk University in action as they hosted Division I powerhouse Northeastern University in Matthews Arena. The Rams managed to pull off the upset against the Huskies with a tough 7:30 p.m. start time. Bob Barrett, Suffolk's director of intercollegiate athletics, said, "I'm very pleased with the effort the team has put in so far. They've been working hard and it's showing in the results." The Huskies entered the game as heavy favorites, but Suffolk managed to hold on for a 4-3 victory in overtime.

This is the second time in two years that Suffolk has upset a Division I opponent, and it's a testament to the hard work and dedication of the Rams. The victory solidifies Suffolk's status as a respectable program in the Northeast.

Athletic Dept. sponsors Athletic-Academic day

by Paul Vacek

The Athletic Department is proud to announce the inaugural Athletic-Academic day on Monday, December 3, at Suffolk University. The day is designed to bridge the gap between athletics and academics and to highlight the importance of both in the lives of our student-athletes.

The day will feature a series of events, including workshops, seminars, and a panel discussion. The keynote speaker will be Cora Cola, a former Olympic athlete and current academic advisor at Suffolk. Cola will speak on the importance of balancing athletics with academics and the value of discipline in both fields.

This is a unique opportunity for our student-athletes to learn from industry leaders and to gain insight into the world of sports and academia. We encourage all students, athletes, and faculty to attend and to participate in this exciting event.

For more information, please contact the Athletic Department at (617) 576-4455.

Corner view
India's lethal discrimination

by Roni Wadad

The discriminatory involvement of medical professionals has bred numerous medical malpractices throughout India, many subjugated, often unable to appeal to the law. It is, indeed, a tragedy if such individuals are dealt with brutality and are subjected to the same treatment that is prescribed for the victims. It is, therefore, recommended that the law be revised and also declare the use of medical professionals as a crime.
