Communications splits with Emerson

By Danielle Sullivan

In a controversial move, Suffolk University's Communications Department has decided to split the program into two separate departments. This decision was made after months of discussions and negotiations. The Communications Department has always been a part of Suffolk University, and the students have been concerned about the decision, but in the end, it was decided that the program would be split into two separate departments.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO STAND IN LINE TO BE PART OF THIS CLASS.

JUST CONTACT THE HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT TODAY!

A brief history which describes the Student Health Service (SHS) and explains how you can become a member of the Health Services system.

You have just become a member of the Suffolk family. As a new student at Suffolk, I am sure you are looking forward to your collegiate experience and the many positive aspects of attending Suffolk University. However, I am sure you are also concerned about your health and well-being. At Suffolk, we take pride in providing excellent health care and services to our students.

The Student Health Service (SHS) is dedicated to promoting and maintaining the health and well-being of our students. We offer a wide range of services, including primary care, mental health, and health education.

Primary care services are available for students who are enrolled in one of the following Suffolk University health plans: Blue Shield, Tufts Health Plan, or Aetna HealthCare.

Mental health services are also available to students. These services include counseling, therapy, and crisis intervention.

We are committed to providing a safe and comfortable environment for all students. Our staff is highly trained and experienced in providing quality healthcare.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns about our services.

Sincerely,

Director of Health Services

In search of a relationship

By Steve Goldard

> “Four, five, six, seven, eight. Nine, ten, eleven, twelve. And all the way through the dozen.”

The reporter stood up and faced the stage. He was a bit nervous, but he knew he had to do it. He had been assigned to cover the opening night of the new musical, and he was determined to get the story right.

The lights came on, and the audience settled in. The first note of the orchestra filled the room, and the reporter took a deep breath. He couldn’t help but smile as he thought about all the stories he had written in the past, but this one was different. This was the story of a relationship.

The reporter watched as the actors performed their parts, each one bringing their own unique style to the performance. He could see the chemistry between the leading characters, and he knew that this was going to be a story worth telling.

As the lights dimmed and the final note of the music faded away, the reporter knew that he had done his job. He had witnessed the beginning of a new relationship, and he knew that it was going to be a story worth telling for years to come.
