White proposes expanded services

by Linda Shank

Melissa White, Ph.D. Director of Health Services, is excited that during the first week of classes the hospital was able to respond to 25 requests for outpatient psychiatric evaluations. "These are very time consuming requests at this time of year, but we are pleased to be able to meet the needs of students," White said.

White also stated that they are working with the administration to extend their hours of operation to better meet the needs of students. However, she added, "We are also trying to ensure that we continue to provide services to everyone in need, regardless of their ability to pay."

White concluded by stating that she is looking forward to a successful year and encourages students to utilize the services offered by Health Services.

White proposes expanded services

by David Grady

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the potential for Suffolk's Peace Group to engage in an international internship program as an agenda for possible discussions and actions. The group, which is comprised of undergraduate students, faculty, and members of the local community, was formed in response to the recent increase in international conflict and the need for peaceful solutions. The agenda included discussions on the potential benefits of international internships, the current state of international internships, and the steps necessary to launch an internships program. The group also discussed the potential challenges and obstacles that may arise during the implementation of an internships program.

Spenser offers perspectives on Nairobi

By Rannie Warah

"Spenser" means a benevolent perturbation of the spiritual or mental state. If it is "good" or "bad." Spenser has "offered" his perspectives on "spending" in "Nairobi." He says with a smile, "I often think I'm spending money on something and then I realize I'm just "offering" it." Nairobi is a city of contrasts, where tradition meets modernity. Spenser's insights give a glimpse into the complex tapestry of Nairobi's culture and society.

Spenser investigates Love and Glory

By Joseph S. Keene

"Spenser" means a benevolent perturbation of the spiritual or mental state. If it is "good" or "bad." Spenser has "investigated" his perspectives on "love" and "glory." He says with a smile, "I often think I'm pursuing "love" and "glory," but then I realize I'm just "investigating" them." Love and glory, two concepts that have been debated for centuries, are explored through the lens of Spenser's insights. Nairobi is a city of contrasts, where tradition meets modernity. Spenser's investigation gives a deeper understanding of these complex ideas in the context of Nairobi's culture and society.

Learning disabled can achieve success

In Susan Chaputa

"Learning disabled" means a benevolent perturbation of the educational or social state. If it is "good" or "bad." Learning disabled students have "achieved" success in various fields, proving that with the right support, they can achieve anything. Nairobi is a city of contrasts, where tradition meets modernity. Susan's article highlights the success stories of learning disabled students, giving hope and inspiration to those who may feel局限 by their condition.

MUSIC

Black Flag's Rollins speaks out

By Michael Poncino

"I've always had this rivalry with punk music," singer and guitarist Glen Danzig says. "I've always had a certain respect for punk, but I always felt it was a lot more for the parents to listen to than it was for the kids." Danzig's influence can be heard in the music of bands like The Misfits and The Ramones.

Daltrey f-f-fades away

By Diane Welsh

"It's been a long time coming," says former Who lead singer Roger Daltrey. "But I've been feeling better for a couple of weeks now." Daltrey announced his retirement from the band earlier this year, citing health reasons.

Dire Straits swings like sultans

By Michael Poncino

"We've been around for a while," guitarist Mark Knopfler says. "But we've been working hard and it shows. We've got a new album coming out and it's going to be our best yet." Dire Straits is known for their bluesy sound and their intricate guitar work.

Dupree tries out with the Celtics

by Chris Rose

"I'm really looking forward to this," guard Rick Dupree says. "I've been working hard and I think I can make the team." Dupree is a former college basketball player who is trying out for a spot on the Boston Celtics.
