Phelan cleared of arson charges

by Donald Plane

On the evening of September 23, 1957, a fire was set in the Suffolk Journal building, located on Main Street in downtown Boston. The fire caused $100,000 worth of damage and forced the building to remain closed for several months.

Phelan was arrested and tried for the arson, but after a lengthy trial, he was found not guilty by a jury of his peers. The trial lasted over two months, with testimony from over 20 witnesses.

Phelan was later found guilty of a lesser charge, and sentenced to one year in prison. He served his sentence and was released in 1958.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Phelan

(continued from page 1) I am a recent graduate of the University of New Hampshire and I am writing to express my concern regarding the current state of the student organization, SUFFOLK JOURNAL. As a member of the editorial board, I believe it is important that we support local artists and musicians in our coverage. It is unfortunate that the Trivia Competition will not be held this year, as it was a popular event that brought together students from different departments. However, I understand that there are budget constraints that may have led to this decision. I urge all members of the SUFFOLK JOURNAL staff to consider including local artists and musicians in our coverage in the future.

MUSIC

Finally, the last Top Twenty list of the year

by Michael Flaherty

Bill has been high-lighted for the third time this year. For the third time this year. For the third time... and he’s back. The First Four are still the same. Louis Tomlinson, Suede, Banks, and Tegan and Sara have all still been on the charts, and the First Ten contain the same acts as previously mentioned. However, this year’s Top Ten contains a lot of new artists who have risen to the occasion. Some of these new faces include Yuna, Banks, and Tegan and Sara. Their music has been well-received by listeners and critics alike.
