Two Suffolk students arrested in USSR
The other side of Soviet study trip

by Elizabeth Anderson

Two Suffolk junior students, Susan Weeks and Jane St. Germain, were arrested in the USSR while on a study trip to the country. The students were arrested for the unauthorized entry of an apartment in Moscow.

The students were on a study trip sponsored by the school to study Russian language and culture. The trip was supposed to be a cultural exchange, but the students were unaware of the arrest.

Susan Weeks and Jane St. Germain were taken into custody by the local police and were held in jail for several days. The students were eventually released, but were deported from the country.

The school is currently investigating the incident and has not yet made a statement.

SOM faculty discusses tenure

by Denise Pastre

The Suffolk Office of Management and Professional Affairs (SOM) is discussing the issue of tenure. The discussion is focused on the need for a more transparent and fair process for awarding tenure to faculty members.

Managing Professor of History, Dr. Richard MacDowell, has called for a review of the current tenure process. "We need a system that is more equitable and fair," he said. "It's important that we reward our best teachers and scholars for their contributions to the university.

Management Professor of Mathematics, Dr. Michael Traub, also supports the idea of reforming the tenure process. "We need to make sure that the best teachers are recognized and rewarded," he said. "It's important that we have a system that is fair and transparent.

The discussion is expected to continue in the coming weeks.
