Quirk, Walsh, Perchard Elected Class Presidents

The undergraduate body went to the polls on May 5 and elected class officers for 1961-62.

Elected to the presidencies of their respective classes were Senior Bruce T. Quirk, of Moshann Road, Sudbury, who this year served as president of Student Government, Junior William Walsh, 121 Hillside St., Roxbury, a representative in Student Government this year, and James Perchard, of 21 Shipan Road, Chelsea.

The senior class also elected John F. Hennessy of Cambridge, vice-president; Margaret Donovan of Dedham, secretary; and Anthony Dileo of Boston, treasurer.

William McCarthy of Roslindale, Patricia McGovern of Lawrence, and Walter O’Riordan of Littleton were sent to student government posts.

In the junior class Richard Pizzano of Roslindale was elected vice-president; Anne Marie Friel of Jamaica Plain was elected secretary; and Eugene Rumpel of Boston was elected treasurer. Student government seats went to Frederick Hodgman of Boston, Patricia M. Foster of Weymouth, and Jane Matheson of West Newbury.

In the sophomore class where traditionally low averages and freshman-year “jitters” tend to keep many names off the ballot, Gerald Binder of Dorchester won a bid for vice-president; Peter Bottai of Lexington became treasurer; and Jerome Crowley, Jr. of Boston took the post of secretary.

Louise Moun of West Roxbury, Charles Vaillancourt of Pawtucket, and Robert Canavan of Hull survived to win seats on Student Government.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT AN AID TO UNIVERSITY; TO STUDENTS

BY WILLIAM P. POLERI

What kind of work am I best suited for? What courses should I take to prepare for my future work? How can I learn to study more effectively? How can I get along well with other students?

These questions are a sample of the many vocational, educational, academic and emotional problems that students are faced with in college. To help the students at Suffolk University to understand and solve their problems is the objective of the Guidance Department under the direction of Leo Lieberman, Ed.D.

One of the chief purposes of the department is "To improve the quality of the Suffolk student in order to prevent dropouts, and to increase their grade chances." Dr. Lieberman added, "In accomplishing this, we also increase the chances of the students entering graduate school."

Other objectives of the department are: to help the students to clarify vocational and educational objectives; to foster the mental and emotional health of the students; to evaluate the effectiveness of psychological techniques, tests and remedial programs employed by the university; to inform the university staff of the needs and potentialities of the students; and to convey to the public an image of Suffolk University as one that gives the working boy and girl a chance for a higher education.

One of the chief handicaps that most college students have is poor reading ability.

To help the students to overcome this handicap the Guidance Department has set up classes in remedial reading. To show the effectiveness of this program a study has been made on two groups of probationary students. One group was given a remedial reading course and the other group was not. The result was that of those who took the remedial reading 27 percent more attained satisfactory academic standing than those who did not take the course.

It is now compulsory for every incoming student to be tested by the Guidance Department and on recommendation of the department it is determined if the student should take a course in remedial reading before admission. By overcoming this handicap before entering school, doubtful students are often admitted and given a chance to gain a college education. Many of the students' handicaps are due to emotional problems.

With the aid of tests and interviews the Guidance Department counseling psychologists are able to diagnose the particular emotional problem. After the problems are discovered the students are referred to many of a number of community resources such as, clinics, psychiatrists, psychologists and especially the Family Service Association.

Not all students that seek advice from the Guidance Department are probationary students.

"Many students voluntarily come in," Dr. Lieberman said. "Some of the brightest students come in in order to get the most out of their potential."

Concerts Next Year for Jazz Society

Lectures, movies, recordings, and name jazz men are the words from Al Stern, present chairman of the Suffolk Jazz Society, relating to the Society's plans for next year.

Plans are being made now for a more highly-organized jazz society here at Suffolk for next year. Stern is a member of about ten to twelve jazz clubs—world-wide, state, and local—and recognizing the need for a jazz club on the collegiate level he has been working with prominent figures in the circle of jazz on the local scene.

Stern has noticed that in other colleges he has visited on his lecture tours there is a sizeable interest in the music. He hopes that he can create a similar interest at Suffolk.

Remembering the method of procedure used by George Wein in his teenage nightclub, Stern hopes that he can apply this same method to the Suffolk Jazz Society in conjunction with his non-alcoholic nightclub.

Stern is also interested in an exchange student program where presidents of jazz clubs in other colleges can come to Suffolk and in the process learn new methods and information concerning the functions of the club.

The exchange student program is designed to culminate in two productions of jazz concerts. These concerts will be held in cooperation with other local jazz clubs and name jazz men will participate.

Salem refreshes your taste—"air-softens" every puff

Take a puff... it's Springtime! Just as springtime reawakens you to the beauty and soft greenness all around... so every Salem reawakens and softly refreshes your taste. Salem, with all its rich tobacco taste, is a gentle, easy-going smoke. Special High Porosity paper "air-softens" every puff, so that more than ever, Salem gives you the freshness of springtime. B.C. HIGH IS TOPS IN SPEECH CONTEST

Boston College High School captured the rotating plaque from Gate of Heaven High School, its South Boston neighbor, as the highest scoring school in the 13th Suffolk University Speech Contest for parochial high school students.

B.C.'s winning contestants were Donald Mugnai, for oratory, a junior of Arlington, and Joseph McLaughlin, for extemporaneous speaking, a senior of Brighton. Other winners of four-year scholarships to Suffolk valued at $200 each are: Edward Geneeste, a Swamscott senior at St. Mary's Boys, Lynn, for dramatic reading; and Barbara St. Pierre of Jamaica Plain, Holy Cross Academy in Brookline, for humorou interpretarion.

Medal winners were, respectively in the four categories from gold to bronze: John Griffin, Winchester senior at Mqignon High School, Cambridge, Donna Cianelli, Somerville High senior, and Cathleen Butler, Quincy junior at Cathedraal High in Boston's South End, for Oratory.

GIRLS' LOUNGE GOSSIP

"The Suffolk girls of today, what will the future bring them? Well we'll see..."

Jenny Matthoes will be Queen Mother of England.

Alber Mason will have her own "pad" in the village and will read "The Deviate" every night to her disciples.

Sophia Harem will be dancing at the "Bavarian-something-or-other."

Martha Gerroir will own her own hair spray company, and Charlotte Stavel will own a ribbon factory.

Anne Marie Fitzpatrick will be throwing mixed parties.

Tami Elkins will have painted an altar on the purple wall in the lounge. (That's right the purple wall.)

Pamela Calhoun will be married to an inmate at the prison where she'll be working, and have nine children.

Joan Naz will be a famed economics lecturer.

Jaine Carle will be wearing white skirts.

The Price twins will be feeding.

Sylvia Kateses will be trying to sell a moth-eaten purple robe and a rusty crown.

Virginia Donavan will be the author of a very provocative novel entitled "Forics" on Boston.

And then of course, there will be that notorious law firm of McGovern, Matheson, Mason and Calhoun.

Another Social Problem Solved
A Profound Discussion by Alan Chapman

I don’t think it necessary to go into a physical description of what we term a “beatnik” or a pretender to non-conformity. I shall use the term “beatnik” in reference to the sincere follower of individualism. I shall use the term “bohemian” for him. Clarity is my only reason for this distinction.

There have been many theories pertaining to the “beat generation”, mostly based on the idea of rebellion. I don’t claim to have the answer, but at least it’s a new theory.

The crux of this theory is social adjustability. That is, the degree of ease and efficiency with which a person can adjust to the many roles and stratifications of society. Mental and physical processes affected by an individual.

The bohemian has the ability to adjust his social patterns according to the situation in which he finds himself. He can fit comfortably into any social group. Of course, he may not want to associate with certain groups or people, but he’s most likely to avoid them, or if he does, he knows why. He’s just well adjusted to them for the duration of his association. He is socially versatile.

The beatnik, on the other hand, expects all situations and conditions to adjust to him. He is immature in the ways of society. He is more of an aristocrat than the admitted conformist (wherever that is). He has one strict code which he follows in all situations. He conforms to one set of social norms, which he considers the only proper set.

I would like to point out that the beatnik and bohemian discussed here appear opposite extremes of a continuum. Most non-conformists don’t fall into either extreme, but rather fall somewhere along the continuum.

Suffolk Players To Sponsor Image Theatre May 18-27

On May 18 through 27, the Suffolk University Players will sponsor the initial productions of the Image Theatre, a new professional group dedicated to excellence in theater, at the Suffolk Auditorium.

The program will consist of three new dramas written by three new playwrights, and will be staged by Paul Austin, who directed The Lady’s Not For Burning on May 5 and 6, and by George Quenzel. The plays are The Rehearsal by Ralph Rice, The Devil’s Dictionary by Paul Austin, and The Mark of Truth by Stephen Langley.

Peter D. Maclean, adviser to the Suffolk Players, feels that the quality of the Image productions will help to stimulate the Suffolk student an interest in the theater.

“The players have, for the past six years, been struggling to establish a limited but challenging theater; an arena for the university; a program that would benefit the student who participates by giving him direct contact with the staging of live drama,” he said.

“But we have seen as more important an attempt to bring to the non-participating student the benefits of fine production, so that he or she would be faced with the problem of the future.”

The Suffolk Players, which are both social and literary, will debut a program of plays that the student can bring directly to the classroom. Whereas Seven Year Itch, My Three Angels, Hello Dolly, and Annie, all past productions of the Suffolk Players, exemplify the type of the theater now prevailing on the professional scene.

“Those who have struggled to establish a challenging theater program at the university, it very truly has been a struggle because although they have presented good productions, the Players have been unable to make their fellow students respond with large attend-

The newspapers and magazines have been full lately, with stories concerning the activities of and statements about the John Birch Society. Since this organization shows every promise of attracting the reactionary minds of the nation, of forming the backbone of the New Right, we feel that it is the duty of profit to present a guide to this organization. This guide is to be a simple definition of terms.

Chemistry Dept.

for Petro Testing

John Norton, '53 Quincy, treasurer of the General Alumni Assoc. of Suffolk University, recently presented the department of Chemistry with a quantity of petroleum testing apparatus in honor of his group.

Presentation was made to Dr. Richard H. Mach, head of the department here, Norton, associated with the Commonwealth's Division of the Necessities of Life as an investigator, also extended an invitation to the chemistry department to tour the state's facilities for petroleum testing so that they may better familiarize themselves with existing processes in the field.

The gift will enable the chemistry department to undertake many of the standard tests of petroleum and allied products.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB FINISHES WITH HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

By ALBERTA MASON

Thomas Hoybert, chairman of the Political Science Club, claims that the success of the club is due to "the caliber of its members."

"Our members are directly concerned and vitally interested in those things that pertain to the subject of political science."

The P. S. C. is one of the few well-functioning clubs in the school.

In the line of field trips, the members have made several trips to the Harvard Law Forum where they have heard and partaken in the discussions such as: Hypocrisy, by Dr. Orne of Harvard; A Separate Fire State for Negroes in America, by Mr. X, leader of the Black Muslims; and The Future of Democracy in Africa by the Ambassador from Ghana.

The club is planning to hear the forthcoming lectures of former President Truman and another by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Among the films that the club has sponsored this year were: The Continental, Face of Red China, Communism Brainwashing, Operation Abolition, and Nightmare in Red.

The club has also brought some prominent speakers to the school.

OUTLINE

“Where one publication will give a single page to a person as important as Stephen Crane, we included eight.”

Volume one of the set contains American Literature from its Colonial origins to the Civil War. Volume two brings the subject matter up to modern times. Both volumes contain bibliographies including the most important texts and studies of the subject.

“As, by the way,” added Dr. Vogel, “Dr. Murphy and I want to stress that an outline is a means to an end, not the end in itself.”

“We’d better get you see it in our Literature courses,” he chuckled.
