Student apathy at Suffolk is both a standing joke and a depressing fact. It hangs like a problem both in the community at large, but when it comes to action somebody has to take action.

The Political Science, Sociology Club, and the Journalism Society are both a standing joke and a leadership problem. It is assumed that people have a right to expect a high level of quality in health services. We are not apathetic.

The Mediocrity of Student Government is one of the major problems affecting the school and the community at large. The Political Science Club president, Mark Leanord, said that his club is trying to get away from the speaker and movie bit in the second semester. "We don't want speakers and movies just to have them," he said, "If they have meaning OK. We want to go somewhere."

The Sociology Club was non-transparent with its affairs. It is not in the unusual in the period of soul searching. The club is looking for a definition of sociology, over and above what it can get in the classroom. Leanord said that the club wants to do more for sociology majors. They want to find out where the Sociology Department is going. They are not looking for publicity releases at all today.

The club is still somewhat divided on what type of action to take. Some of its members want to find out what is going on in the school and what they can do to improve conditions. They are concerned about student apathy.

"We are open to suggestions," said Leanord. "We will do whatever the student body wants us to do. If they want to take a direction outside sociology, that's OK too."

As president of a club, Leanord is concerned about the way finances are distributed and the way student elections are run. (Since the budget is decided in the summer and student elections are held in the fall, the new president takes office with his hands tied.) According to Leanord, he feels that this is "abysmal." Photo: Paula Kelly

Dr. John Knowles, director of the Rockefeller Foundation, told a Suffolk University audience that "40 million persons unable to get health care will be President of the Rockefeller Foundation since he left MGH on January 1, said he in favor of the legalization of the abortion's bill.

Citing the 300,000 illegitimate births recorded in this country last year, he said, "Abortion laws in all 50 states should be repealed."

Incidentally, Knowles is himself the father of six children.

In his major Boston address of the year, Knowles also gave a brief history of Mass. General Hospital, emphasizing its 22 years on the hospital staff.

He said that the Bulfinch Building, when built in the 1800's, was primarily used for the "sick and poor." In 1920, the Phillips House was primarily used for the "sick and poor." The Baker Memorial, completed in 1935, is devoted to middle class patients.

Explanations between 350 and 400 of Mass. General's 1,100 patients can be described as "indigent." Knowles gave credit to the hospital for "serving the needs of the patient first, then finding out about his money."

The Rockefeller Foundation President-elect also invited the Suffolk audience to visit MGH's facilities.

Knowles, who was made an honorary member of Alpha Phi Omega, the service fraternity, prior to his address, drew similarities between MGH and Suffolk.

"The health of the community," he said, "is the responsibility of both the service fraternity and the community."

"There is plenty of room for,Boston, Mass. March 21, 1972

---

News Flash

 Clubs wage battle against student apathy

by Bob Carr

Student apathy at Suffolk is both a standing joke and a depressing fact. It hangs like a leadership problem. Everybody cares about the problems affecting the school and the community at large, but when it comes to action somebody has to take action.

The Political Science, Sociology Club, and the Journalism Society are both a standing joke and a leadership problem. It is assumed that people have a right to expect a high level of quality in health services. We are not apathetic.

The Mediocrity of Student Government is one of the major problems affecting the school and the community at large. The Political Science Club president, Mark Leanord, said that his club is trying to get away from the speaker and movie bit in the second semester. "We don't want speakers and movies just to have them," he said, "If they have meaning OK. We want to go somewhere."

The Sociology Club was non-transparent with its affairs. It is not in the unusual in the period of soul searching. The club is looking for a definition of sociology, over and above what it can get in the classroom. Leanord said that the club wants to do more for sociology majors. They want to find out where the Sociology Department is going. They are not looking for publicity releases at all today.

The club is still somewhat divided on what type of action to take. Some of its members want to find out what is going on in the school and what they can do to improve conditions. They are concerned about student apathy.

"We are open to suggestions," said Leanord. "We will do whatever the student body wants us to do. If they want to take a direction outside sociology, that's OK too."

As president of a club, Leanord is concerned about the way finances are distributed and the way student elections are run. (Since the budget is decided in the summer and student elections are held in the fall, the new president takes office with his hands tied.) According to Leanord, he feels that this is "abysmal." Photo: Paula Kelly

Dr. John Knowles, director of the Rockefeller Foundation, told a Suffolk University audience that "40 million persons unable to get health care will be President of the Rockefeller Foundation since he left MGH on January 1, said he in favor of the legalization of the abortion's bill.

Citing the 300,000 illegitimate births recorded in this country last year, he said, "Abortion laws in all 50 states should be repealed."

Incidentally, Knowles is himself the father of six children.

In his major Boston address of the year, Knowles also gave a brief history of Mass. General Hospital, emphasizing its 22 years on the hospital staff.

He said that the Bulfinch Building, when built in the 1800's, was primarily used for the "sick and poor." In 1920, the Phillips House was primarily used for the "sick and poor." The Baker Memorial, completed in 1935, is devoted to middle class patients.

Explanations between 350 and 400 of Mass. General's 1,100 patients can be described as "indigent." Knowles gave credit to the hospital for "serving the needs of the patient first, then finding out about his money."

The Rockefeller Foundation President-elect also invited the Suffolk audience to visit MGH's facilities.

Knowles, who was made an honorary member of Alpha Phi Omega, the service fraternity, prior to his address, drew similarities between MGH and Suffolk.

"The health of the community," he said, "is the responsibility of both the service fraternity and the community."

"There is plenty of room for..."
Anderson cries ‘fix’- says he’ll prove it

Just hours after the late editions of the country’s newspapers had begun to hit the streets on Tuesday, February 28, carrying his account of U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell’s alleged “fix” of three Justice Department anti-trust suits against the International Telephone and Telegraph Company (ITT), syndicated columnist Jack Anderson told approximately 300 persons in Franklin, Massachusetts, that denials of the incident subsequently made by Mitchell, ITT lobbyist Bita Beard, and spokesmen for ITT would soon be proven false.

Filling a speaking engagement at Dean Junior College, Anderson said, “We will in future columns prove that they are lying.”

However, this reply, Anderson would point out in his column the following day, was in direct conflict to previous claims made by Kleinchen, who had not been involved at all with the case.

Recently nominated to replace Attorney General Mitchell as U.S. Attorney General, Kleinchen subsequently requested that he be allowed to defend himself against the charges levied by Anderson before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which recently conducted hearings concerning his nomination for the position of Attorney General.

The entire controversy arose when Anderson came into possession of a memorandum made by Kleinchen and the head of ITT’s Washington, D.C. office.

The memo, which Anderson said he “found in the most secret files of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company,” indicates that Attorney General Mitchell put the “fix” on three anti-trust suits against ITT in reciprocation for the money he had agreed to settle the three anti-trust cases that, but for no connection between the settlement and the $400,000 pledged contribution, Mrs. Beard, as you know, has since taken ill.

The memo said there was a connection, said she said, that there wasn’t,” said Anderson. The Attorney General said that Anderson claimed that he rebuffed Beard when she mentioned the matter of the anti-trust suits during a conversation the two parties had at the executive mansion of Kentucky Governor Louie Nunn.

“IT (spokemen) said that the only discussions on the anti-trust cases had been between their lawyers and the Justice Department in Washington,” Anderson told the audience.

When asked by his reporter, during an interview after the speaking engagement when he thought the result would be of the investigations he was making concerning Attorney General Mitchell’s alleged role in the affair, Anderson replied, “I doubt that the Justice Department will investigate it.” However, he pointed out that the implication was not $100,000 of this pledge had been actually handed over to contention fund-risers.

Upon receiving the memo, Anderson went to Beard, where she was confronted with it, and at which point, she replied that yes, she had talked to Attorney General Mitchell, that yes, Mitchell had agreed to settle the three anti-trust cases, but no, there was no connection between the settlement and the $400,000 pledged contribution. Mrs. Beard, as you know, has since taken ill.

Upon returning the memo, Anderson said he would be in direct contact with Kleinchen, who had not been involved at all with the case.

At 4:30, Monday, Mr. Murphy was called but Mr. Murphy wasn't in but his assistant. Mr. Young was. He said that Mr. Murphy was speaking to Commission Chief Cazzoza about our case. The HOT LINE number was given to him and he was asked to have Mr. Murphy call us when he returned. By 7:00 PM no call seemed to forthcoming so the HOT LINE called it quits for the day (or night).

On the following Monday Mr. Murphy was called but he wasn’t in. We were told that he would be in Tuesday at 8:30 and to call back. Then on Tuesday Mr. Murphy still hasn’t made it to his office, or could not be contacted, depending on your couse of semantics.
at his comments concerning Suffolk students. If a substandard tuition over the years four years are those of a student body does exist, what is he Dr. Floyd I became highly incensed do something about it. After all, I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more ousing and prolonging student issues, I feel that because of the history department down.

Steve Dudley was a question as to his ability and I advised him that there might be possible legal repercussions. His conduct was "specific encouragement ' of legal unlicensed practice of medicine. For counselling on drugs, service, selective service, abortion and he dragged the entire department into areas of competition. Since that time, I have had no response from him, which resulted m arrangements with the Suffolk Journal, which was brought to my attention the existence of posters advertising the availability of problem counselling center concerning problem pregnancy, birth control and drugs. Steve, come to my office at my request, expressed the opinion that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal

Robert Coughlin Ombudsman Suffolk University

Confused "EGA Pres.

After several readings of the interview with Dr. Norman Floyd, Chairman, College Committee, Department. (Suffolk Journal, March 13, 1972) I find myself confused on certain points. If a substandard student body does exist, what is he Dr. Floyd I became highly incensed do something about it. After all, I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that他 should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.

First, how can a university, such as Suffolk University, continue to grow in stature as Suffolk has, and that he should obtain legal clarification from the Attorney General's Office and that there was a question as to whether this was just thrown out in any manner. I really don't mind if they want to be educators but it seems more important to me personally.
Anderson describes role of a free press his, but was not contained in the memo written by Beard which she intended would be destroyed as it established, "I think too many of our correspondents find themselves part of the establishment. I think too many of them accept the views and opinions of the people who govern us. They become on personal terms with them and therefore find it hard to believe anything wrong about them. In Washington, I avoid the cocktail circuit."

cont. from p. 2

When asked for a prediction on the outcome of pending Supreme Court cases concerning the right of a newspaper to protect the sources of his information, Anderson said he expects the U.S. Supreme Court to act in favor of the fourth estate. "I could be wrong," he added, "the old Supreme Court definitely would have, the Nixon Supreme Court may not."

Anderson added, "The First Amendment, in my opinion, gives us the right to protect our sources; otherwise the First Amendment is meaningless. If the government can come in and force me to tell them who gives me information, then no one will give me information, and the First Amendment won't be worth the paper that it's written on. So I would think that the Supreme Court, understanding this, would protect us from that kind of government interference."

"If the Supreme Court doesn't," Anderson added, "then I'll go back because I'm not going to give my sources."
WORK STUDY INFORMATION

Students interested in the summer Work-Study Program should obtain application forms in the Office of the Dean of Students as soon as possible.

The College Work-Study Program, which serves to promote employment of students in need of financial aid, has a limited number of positions, and will hand out assignments on a "first-come, first-serve basis."

In order to qualify for the program a student must be a National of the United States, in financial need, capable of maintaining academic standing while employed in the program, and a full-time student.

Upon notification of eligibility, the Placement Bureaus, both College and Law, will endeavor to assign students to work which is related to their educational objective either in the University or at an outside agency.

The hourly salary within the University for both undergraduate and graduate students is $1.75. Outside agencies generally pay $2.00-$2.50 per hour for the undergraduate, and $2.75-$3.00 per hour for the graduate or professional student.

When a student is not attending classes, he may work up to 40 hours per week.

TODAY

Chinese Calligraphy and Painting demonstration at 1:00PM in the Aud. Reception to follow. All invited as part of the China Week Program.

THURSDAY

March 23, at 1:00PM there will be a trip to the Fogg Museum, Harvard Univ., to view the Chinese Bronzes. Group will leave from the Donahue Building lobby— all invited.

DEADLINE

All undergraduate and graduate students who plan to register for student teaching next fall or next spring should be sure to submit BY APRIL 3, the appropriate application. Forms are available in the Department of Education Office—Room 213.

(MORE)
IMPORTANT NOTICE!!!

Mr. Law, Athletic Director, would remind students that until final action is taken by the Board of Trustees concerning the gym requirement, all students subject to the requirement MUST attend their gym classes or face the possibility of not graduating if the Board does not abolish the requirement.

SPEAKER MARCH 22

The Student Bar Assoc. presents Aubrey Daniels, Prosecution Attorney for William Calley. 3:00PM in Aud. All invited.

IMPORTANT

Second half payment due on college tuition on March 24. Late payment charge of $10.00 will be rendered if payment is not received by this date.

MOVIE NIGHT!!!

S.G.A. presents DIABOLIQUE and some short subjects on Sat. April 8, at 8:00PM in the Aud. Admission is .75

SKI WEEK

Delta Sigma Pi is holding a ski trip March 25-April 2 at the Hawthorne Lodge in Plymouth, N.H. Open to all Suffolk students. For info, see any of the brothers in RL 10.

LIVINGSTON TAYLOR WILL PLAY AT SUFFOLK ON SUNDAY APRIL 9, AT 8:00PM. ALSO APPEARING WILL BE JOHN POUSSETTE DART. TICKETS ARE $1.50 FOR SUFFOLK STUDENTS AND $2.50 FOR NON-STUDENTS AND MAY BE PURCHASED IN THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT OFFICE RL 8 & 9 AND ALSO IN THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE RL 5 OR FROM ANY STUDENT GOVERNMENT MEMBER.

P.S.

The JOURNAL HOPES YOU HAVE A FAR-OUT VACATION.