Seale - Changing Directions

Revolution is a Forward Development

by Jeff Dennis and Bob Carr

Bobby Seale, co-founder of the Black Panther Party, spoke to a capacity crowd at Suffolk last Thursday. Gone are the shotguns, the berets and the leather jackets. Bobby is now a politician, running for mayor of Oakland, California.

But you could say that he has always been a politician; as such, he moves with the times. Since their conception in 1966 the Panthers have been surrounded by an aura of violence. Newspapers eagerly printed accounts of Panther shootouts and the image of the armed Black Panther became a cliche.

But Seale insisted that the armed militancy was only part of a much larger plan of self defense. The plan consisted of organizing and educating people in the black community.

Seale and Huey P. Newton saw the need for organization while working for the Department of Human Resources in Oakland. They saw Blacks brutalized in their own communities by police and observed first hand corruption in local government.

Deploring the riots of the mid-sixties as a waste of energy, Seale and Newton determined to go to the people and fight to force government to serve the basic desires and needs of the community.

In November 1966, the Panthers began their first patrol operations in Oakland. These patrols consisted of following police in the Black neighborhoods with law books, tape recorders and loaded shotguns.

Seale pointed out that it was within their rights as citizens of the state of California to carry guns, as long as they were not concealed, and to observe the police in the performance of their duties as long as they maintained a reasonable distance. "The police didn't like being challenged by the Black community," he continued. "The police didn't like it, however, and the system didn't like it when we told them. You have been shooting and murdering young blacks in the black community. You have been oppressing us. And when we catch you and (Continued on page 3)
German Master Drawings

The Romantic Experience

by Ricardo Eng

When asked about the appeal of the students at Suffolk, Dr. Anne Harding, who has just published a book, "The Romantic Experience," feels that they "have a lot of experience and are very distinctive." She finds genuine emotion and artist's perception in the sketches of the 19th century Germany. According to Harding, they are "exceptional in their combination of music and art." She sees the sketches as sketchy, with "deeply romantic" music. She compares the sketches to the paintings of Polish composer, Chopin, and says that the sketches are "very close, natural." Harding also believes that the sketches are "close to nature."
The United Nations Board of Control will be empowered to settle all disputes between warring nations.

A. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist, at all times, of two members from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

B. Each representative on the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

C. The court will be composed of individuals who will be elected by any interested group or organization. The plans should be submitted to the court within five years of the court's decision. If it is not submitted, the plan will be considered illegal. The court will then issue an order of cancellation. The court will then issue an order of cancellation.

D. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

E. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

F. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

G. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

H. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

I. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

J. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

K. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

L. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

M. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

N. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

O. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

P. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

Q. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

R. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

S. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

T. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

U. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

V. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

W. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

X. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

Y. The next meeting of the United Nations Board of Control will be called upon to present his Peace Plan to the court. The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.

Z. The next meeting of the United Nations General Assembly will consist of two representatives from the following, a Democrat, a Communist, and a Socialist government. The Secretary-General of the United Nations will be empowered to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

The court will govern by the plan presented by the country (as explained in section 1) or rejected by the United Nations Board of Control. After a two-thirds vote is cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. The court will continue "tilting at windmills", whether the court or the country is in the minority. It is illegal after the court's decision to change the plan. It is a representation of a plan to end the war.
The Valachi Papers

by Dennis Vandal

If there is an award that is presented to the most outstanding event of the year, and that award is the Nobel Prize, then it is no wonder why the Valachi Papers script is being given. The Valachi Papers is essentially a documentary of what once was called to be a Senate investigation in 1963. The resulting film, which takes us back to the early 1960's and brings us up to the date of this investigation is full of hilarious, stereotyped Italian mobsters, who wouldn't go to the corner market without a Thompson submachinegun stuffed into a violent kind of neat stuff while Valachi, Charles DiMaluca, is being investigated in a jail cell by a typical Irish cop. Who over hears of a non-Irish cop anyway? Nobody in Hollywood.

While the questions fly and the answers are given, the voices fade away and the real bloodshed begins over the screen. A few get shot with bells, a few before the gun, one gets castrated as he murdered around with the boss's mistress and then gets shot to death by such a maniac because he feels sorry for the penis-less sap. We do not only see the killings but are also given a corridor sequence but we also get to see La Cosa Nostra and the American mafia! We see the mustachioed family head perform the ritual and say, "From now on, you gonna live a by a gun and a knife." We do not even pick up on what's going on. We are only interested in the history of students in the United States. The concept of Valachi students who are interested in the history of American immigration and ideas. The movie deals with problems concerning drugs, the draft, legal and illegal, women and men in the workforce, political, social, academic, social, and family problems. A tentative budget of $451 will be used for additional literature, data, analysis. Full manuscripts will be distributed to all interested persons. Staff member Bob Potter stressed the importance of the project to be strictly confidential.

Regarding the structure of the Center, Potter said, "We are not looking to duplicate the typical college club. There is no president or executive director. We are concerned, that's all that is happening."

At present the Center consists of about 10 to 15 people. Bob Potter, Ron Parks, Wendy Harris, Gabriel Parks, and Jane Dufrene. Additional volunteers have been added to the group. Potter said that students don't have to have a problem to visit the Center anyone can come up to it.